Wicks Would Set Up Division of Records

Albany, N. Y., March 6 (P)—Preservation of state and local government records would be the responsibility of a proposed new records division in the state executive department under a bill before the legislature. The measure, which would transfer such responsibility from the education department, was introduced by the Senate Rules Committee yesterday at the request of Senator Arthur Wicks, Kingston Republican.

Wicks is chairman of a legislative committee investigating the education department. The state archivist would be transferred to the proposed records division under the bill.

U. S. Protests Red Interference With Hungary's Rulers

Note Is Sent to Moscow by Marshall Shortly Before Departure for Parley

Washington, March 6 (P)—Fresh tension between Russia and the western powers appeared to be building up today with disclosure of a United States protest against Soviet interference with Hungary's non-Communist government.

Diplomatic authorities said the note was sent to Moscow by Secretary of State Marshall shortly before his departure yesterday for the Big Four Foreign Ministers Conference opening there Monday. Copies went to Great Britain and the three-power Allied Control Council at Budapest.

The State Department declined comment pending word that the note had been delivered.

The protest reflected American concern over bolstering Hungary, like Greece, against Soviet domination.

For weeks the Hungarian Communist and other parties have sought to oust the moderate Smallholders' Party majority in Parliament.

The most recent incident was the arrest of Bela Kovacs, anti-Communist member of Parliament, by Russian soldiers.

Kovacs' arrest was reported by the official Hungarian News Agency to have been ordered by Lt. V. P. Sviridov, Russian occupation commander and chairman of the control council, on charges that he aided in the formation of underground terror groups and had organized espionage against the Russian Army.

Extension Shows Concern
American concern over Russian-supported efforts to upset the regime was evidenced last month by the extension of a second $15,000,000 credit to Budapest to buy surplus American war material.

The State Department held out hopes then of further aid for Hungary, and made clear that this government proposed to help underwrite Hungary's post-war political and economic stability as agreed upon at the war-time Big Three Yalta Conference.

When Hungary was experiencing a financial crisis last year Moscow rejected three proposals submitted by the United States.

Arms Are Rushed
New Blows Aimed at Sino-Communists, Chinese Dispatches Say

Nanking, March 6 (P)—The government rushed large quantities of heavy arms by sea today to its forces aiming new blows at retreating Communist troops in Manchuria. Chinese press dispatches said.

Nationalists established a bridgehead on the northern side of the Sungari River for a drive on Harbin, 75 miles to the north, these reports said. Harbin is one of the big Manchurian cities still held by Communists.

Gen. Tu Li-Ming, government commander in Manchuria, asserted yesterday that his troops could capture Harbin within 10 days if given the go-ahead.

Governor In Favor of Strike Bill

State Employees to Lose Jobs by Striking as Condon-Wadlin Setup Is 'Toughened'

Includes Teachers
Original Sponsors Say Changes in Bill Are Not Theirs

Albany, N. Y., March 6 (P)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey today supported a bill outlawing strikes by public employees in New York state and setting up drastic penalties for violations.

Under Dewey's leadership, a relatively mild measure to ban public employe walkouts, known as the Condon-Wadlin bill, was toughened last night with amendments which provide that:

1. No employee or appointive officer of the state or any of its political subdivisions shall strike.
2. Any employee or appointive officer who does strike shall automatically lose his job.
3. If a striker is rehired he shall receive no pay increase for three years and shall be on probation for five years, during which period he must serve without tenure and at the pleasure of the appointing body.

Leaders Put in Teeth
Final decision to put sharp teeth in the bill was reached at a conference Dewey held with Republican legislative leaders late yesterday.

Informed sources predicted the revised anti-strike bill would be approved by the G.O.P.-controlled Legislature.

These same sources forecast legislative sanction of Dewey's proposal to authorize counties and cities to levy special local taxes of approximately $111,000,000 a year in order to meet increased operating costs, including support of education.

Meanwhile, there were signs that the administration's permanent salary program for the state's 77,000 public school teachers, which has been under sharp attack by teacher organizations, would undergo revisions.

Dr. Francis T. Spaulding, state commissioner of education and a member of the Governor's special committee that drafted the pay plan, announced the committee would meet tomorrow with representatives of teacher groups and boards of education to discuss the program.

The teacher groups are objecting to the plan.

Tree Trimmer Is Killed At Viaduct by Power Line

Married World War Veteran, 21, Hit Central Hudson Line on Murphy Street; Death Instantaneous

Harry L. Gardner, 21, of 62 Farrelly street, this city, was electrocuted when he came in contact with a Central Hudson power line, while trimming trees with a group of employees of the Tree Preservation Company about 11:30 this morning on Murphy street near the Washington avenue viaduct.

Death was almost instantaneous, according to Coroner Ernest A. Kelly, who said an autopsy would be performed this afternoon.

Gardner, who is married and a World War 2 veteran, was working with a gang of men trimming tree tops for the Central Hudson company. His arm accidentally dropped on several live wires and the young man was thrown into the "crow's nest" of the truck from which the men work.

Housing Tenants Are Chosen; Start Moving Into State Project

Nine Families Are Selected by Local Committee; Supervised by State Housing Field Representative; Apartments Go to Veterans

The first nine families selected for the veterans emergency housing project at Loughran Park were scheduled to start moving into two and three-room apartments this afternoon.

The names of the tenants judged by the Selections Committee to be the most deserving are:

- Mark O. Cornwell, 19 Pine street, 2 rooms.
- Benedict P. Todaro, 99 Highland avenue, 2 rooms.
- Alfred F. Henion, Box 195, Hurley, 2 rooms.
- Augustus O. Steuding, Jr., 53 1/2 Hoffman street, 2 rooms.
- Frank A. Aidala, 29 Boulevard, 2 rooms.
- Darwin L. Hinsdale, 220 Washington avenue, 2 rooms.
- Arthur A. Brown, 488 Hasbrouck avenue, 3 rooms.
- Kenneth E. Douglas, 45 Foxhall avenue, 3 rooms.
- George R. Sackett, 77 Pearl street, 2 rooms.

The selections were announced by Harold Davidson, field representative of the State Division of Housing, who has been in Kingston for the past week supervising the screening of applicants.

Monthly rental for the apartments will be $36 for two-room units and $43 for three rooms. The leases will be granted on a monthly basis. With the initial lease each tenant posts a $5 bond which will be returned to him when he vacates the apartment, if it is in as good condition as when he was assigned to it.

All nine tenants are veterans of World War 2 and included in the group of families are 12 children. There are three expectant mothers among the wives of the veterans.

The number of rooms allotted an applicant is determined by the size of the family and the age of the children, Mr. Davidson said. If an applicant refuses the apartment assigned to him by the Selection Committee, his name is placed in a dead file and he will receive no further consideration.

Rush Does Not Materialize
The number of applications fell far below the anticipated rush, with only about 50 already received at the mayor's office. The application blanks are expected to keep trickling in during the next few days but the number is not expected to exceed 75.

The monthly rental fee includes heat and light. All apartments have individual kitchenettes equipped with gas ranges and mechanical refrigerators, as well as private bathroom facilities. Central heating is supplied by the project management.

William Griffiths, of New York, has been assigned as temporary agent supervising the Loughran Park project. He will be succeeded in a few days by a local man who will take over the duties of housing agent and be responsible to the State Division of Housing.

Leases Are Signed
Mr. Davidson met with the nine new tenants this morning at city hall for formal signing of the leases.

O.P.A. Would End June 30 Under Decision by Senate

Washington, March 6 (P)—O.P.A., the government's most widely known wartime agency, faced a definite June 30 death sentence today.

Critics of the once powerful Office of Price Administration which in its hey-day fixed values on everything from apples to zebra skins said the agency must die with the end of the treasury's fiscal year.

This senate decision—although a far softer blow than the House had dealt previously—prompted O.P.A.'s few remaining congressional supporters to protest that actually rent, sugar and rice controls will have to end before then for lack of funds.

The precise answer will be decided by a Senate-House conference committee expected to be appointed to iron out this and other differences over a $182,000,000 deficiency appropriation bill.

The Senate wrote its verdict late yesterday after brushing aside a plea from Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, O.P.A.'s top boss as head of the postwar Office of Temporary Controls.

Fleming said in a statement to the lawmakers that he will need $12,000,000 just to close up shop for O.P.A., and that the remaining $5,000,000 will allow actual operations only through April 30.

Previously the House not only had denied Fleming any additional money but ordered him to return $9,000,000 previously voted O.P.A.

What the Senate did was provide a total of $17,000,000 but

Poughkeepsie Man Killed in 9-W Crash

Frederick Martin, 52, of Route 3, Poughkeepsie, was instantly killed when thrown from his car early this morning in a two-car crash south of Highland. The accident is still under investigation and Coroner Arthur Chipp of Kerhonkson, is holding his decision open until the investigation is completed. Martin's car is shown above.

Shortly after 3 o'clock this morning the 1937 Ford sedan of Martin, operated by Truman F. Taber, 25, of 25 Mill street, Wappingers Falls, was proceeding northerly along route 9W. A 1938 Cadillac sedan owned by the Superior Humus and Peat Company of Violet street, Poughkeepsie, entered route 9W from a side road.

State Police who investigated stated the Martin car coming north struck the left side of the Cadillac as it entered the main highway and the door of the Ford car opened up and Martin fell to the pavement and suffered severe injuries from which he apparently died instantly. Martin was riding in the front seat of the Ford car.

Coroner Chipp was notified and Corporal Arthur A. Reilly and Trooper O'Connor of Highland sub-station made an investigation.

The accident happened a couple of miles south of the Highland bridge circle and near the Music Box Tavern.

President Calls for Reduction Of World's Trade Barriers

Paris Father Knew Of Bribe Attempts

Was Suspicious of Grid Fix After Hearing Talk Over Phone

New York, March 6 (P)—Sidney Paris, father of Alvin J. Paris, who was convicted of attempting to fix a professional football game, testified in General Sessions today that he knew of his son's attempt to bribe two New York Giants players.

Testifying at the trial of three men accused of conspiring with Paris, the elder Paris said he learned of his son's attempt to bribe Merle Hapes and Frank Filchok of the New York Giants when he heard his son talking on the phone Dec. 12 and became suspicious.

The younger Paris, who preceded his father to the stand, was convicted of attempting to bribe Hapes and Filchok to lay down in the National Professional League championship game Dec. 15 between the Giants and the Chicago Bears, which the Bears won 24 to 14. He awaits sentencing next week.

United States, He Says, Can Show Way to Peace or Can Plunge All Into Economic War; Receives Degree From Baylor University

Waco, Tex., March 6 (P)—President Truman, calling for a reduction of world trade barriers, declared today the United States "can lead the nations to economic peace or we can plunge them into economic war."

Petition Is Given To Paltz Board; Has 902 Names

A petition with 902 signatures asking reinstatement of Principal Raymond J. Cunningham of the New Paltz High School, was presented to Harold L. Wood, acting president of the Board of Education at noon today as a spokesman for fact-finding committees reported failure in drawing a statement from the board on its release of the principal.

A spokesman for the student council said that Mr. Wood in accepting the petition, said he would present it to the board at its next meeting, but made no other comment.

Alexander H. Cuthbert, chairman of a committee for Huguenot Grange, which was one of three attempting to learn the facts behind the board's release of Cunningham, said that the board had given no satisfaction to date on requests for a special meeting to consider student and public reaction to the announcement that Cunningham would not be retained as principal.

Presented to Wood

The petition was presented to Acting President Wood by a representative of the student council who was accompanied by the chairmen of the three committees investigating the board's action. The other two committees represented the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The next regular meeting of the Board of Education is scheduled for March 18. Cuthbert said that the committee had requested a

Prosecutor 'Heard' She Had Effect

Accuses Forman's Wife of Motioning Head to Give Assistance to Stanton

Watkins Dissents

Judge Says He Will Not Act on Rumors to Exclude Woman

New York, March 6 (P)—William T. Stanton, of Kingston, N. Y., former O.P.A. investigator in the Albany area, admitted in federal court today that he served 10 months of a two-year sentence imposed January 8, 1945, for illegally selling gasoline ration coupons, and that he has been an alcoholic for several years.

Stanton is on trial before Federal Judge Harry E. Watkins and a jury, charged with conspiracy with Joseph M. Forman, former corporation counsel of Kingston, N. Y., and Harold Gottfried, president of the Pure Rock Mineral Springs Corporation, of Ellenville, N. Y., charged with conspiracy to deprive the government of Stanton's impartial services by means of bribery.

Gottfried and the Pure Rock Company are also charged with filing false statements with the O.P.A. with respect to the sugar consumption of the Pure Rock Company during 1941.

Stanton had signed a statement, executed during his imprisonment, which Assistant U. S. Attorney Frederick H. Block has characterized as a "confession." The statement was admitted in evidence by Judge Watkins last week, over protest of defense counsel, as having been given "voluntarily," and "without duress."

Asked to Exclude Mrs. Forman

At the outset of the trial today, in the absence of the jury, Block asked that Mrs. Forman, who is in daily attendance at the trial, be excluded from the courtroom during the cross-examination of Stanton. The prosecutor told the court that he had been informed that during the private hearing which resulted in the admission of Stanton's statement, Stanton, before testifying, would look at Mrs. Forman and that she would motion her head before he answered questions.

Joseph Leary Delaney, attorney for Forman, said that "Mr. Block doesn't know what he is talking about."

Judge Watkins said that "if Mr. Block had known about that he should have informed the court immediately. I have not observed anything of that type and on a rumor of this kind I'm not going to exclude anyone."

Questions Him on Smith

Block questioned Stanton about an alleged conversation Stanton had with Sheriff George Smith, of Ulster county, N. Y., on Jan. 7 this year, and asked the witness if he had told the sheriff that he wanted to give himself up as a government witness, rather than stand trial.

Stanton said that he recalled being in and out of the Ulster county court house several times on Jan. 7, but did not remember whom he had seen.

Stanton told of three taverns in

Boulder Dam May Become 'Hoover' Despite New Deal

Washington, March 6 (AP)—House Republicans get their chance today to set up a monument to the last G.O.P. president—Herbert Hoover—and at the same time "right a great wrong."

After 14 years, they were ready to designate mammoth Boulder Dam on the Colorado river Hoover Dam once more.

Senate approval and President Truman's signature still will be required.

Okayed only Tuesday by the House Public Lands Committee, the name-changing resolution won a quick place on the chamber's calendar for a vote today.

To many Republican members the action brought an opportunity they have been waiting for since 1933.

That was the year Harold L. Ickes, President Roosevelt's secretary of the interior, discarded the Hoover label and announced that thereafter the dam would be given its "original and proper" name, Boulder Dam.

Witnesses before the public lands group noted that Congress never had got around to naming the dam formally. Since its conception, the title has depended upon the wishes of the current secretary of the interior.

During congressional debates on the Boulder Canyon Project Act in the 1920's, the dam generally was referred to as Boulder or Boulder Canyon Dam.

Hoover Was Instrumental
As secretary of commerce during that period, Herbert Hoover had been instrumental in putting through the Colorado river compact which cleared the way for the dam's construction.

Hoover entered the White House in 1929 and the next year his secretary of the interior Ray Lyman Wilbur, announced that the structure would bear the President's name.

Rep. Jack Z. Anderson (R., Calif.), sponsor of the name-changing resolution, told the House committee the project as referred to as Hoover Dam in five appropriation bills. That, he contended, tended to give legality to the title.

Anderson quoted the late Rep. Edward Taylor (D., Colo.), chairman of the House Appropriations Committee in 1930, as remarking that he had "gladly" written the designation into a bill, and that the dam would be a monument to Hoover "for centuries."

It remained a monument in that sense only three years, however, when Ickes issued his order.

"A small act of a very small man," Anderson asserted to the committee, adding that his bill would "right a great wrong."

Several Democrats on the Public Lands Committee opposed Anderson's resolution on the grounds that the name Boulder Dam has become fixed through 14 years of usage.

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 8 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it causes nagging backache, rheumatism, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

British Work Out
'Double Day' Shifts

London, March 6 (P)—British industry and the Trades Union Congress were reported near agreement today on a plan for "double day shifts" to ease the burden on fuel-short power stations by spreading the load.

Under this plan, which won tentative approval last night from a special TUC committee, half the factories in a given section would begin their eight-hour day at 6 a. m. and the other half at 2 p. m. The government had proposed that a third of British industry be put on nights, but an official source said this had drawn criticism from both sides. He said that the government soon would announce a system whereby gas and electricity would be rationed, like food, on an individual basis for the next two or three years.

Search for Peace at Moscow

(J. Wes Gallagher, who has covered virtually all western European countries and has headed The Associated Press staff in Germany since the war, has written the following summary of international aims with regard to Germany preparatory to going to Moscow for the four-power conference.)

By WES GALLAGHER

Berlin, March 6 (P)—Most veteran officials in this four-power capital are extremely gloomy about the prospect of getting any constructive program for Germany out of the Moscow Foreign Ministers Conference.

Eighteen months of wrangling has turned the Allied Control Council to a "no decision" debating society.

Authoritative sources report that the 750-page Allied Council "report" to the Foreign Ministers Conference contains no indication of a compromise on any major issue.

Talk in Washington, Moscow, London or Paris of compromises has not been reflected by acts in Germany, where zonal gulfs have steadily widened, accompanied by a violent Russian propaganda campaign against the western powers.

Briefly, the position of the powers in Germany can be summed up as follows:

Russia—wants political unification under Russia's definition of "democratic processes." Wants economic unification if this means Russia would get reparations from the western zones without interfering with her own reparations program in her zone.

Britain—favors central political administration, but with safeguards for political parties. Not so strong for federalized states as the Americans. Determined Germany must pay her own way before reparations are taken out, and will probably ask for an increased level of industry.

Favors Central Government

United States—favors a central government, but one curbed by a strong federal state system. Believes political unification can come only with economic unity. Determined Germany must be rebuilt to pay her own way, and that reparations must come second to an important export program aimed at self-sufficiency.

France—opposes a central political government unless under direct four-power supervision. Favors a system of loosely federalized German states with strong local powers. Opposes a high industrial level, wants factories removed to neighboring countries with Germany supplying the coal to run them, and wants an internationalized Ruhr coupled with considerable boundary amputation. Reports in Paris and Washington that France and Russia will combine at Moscow against Britain and America are difficult to substantiate since they are almost exact opposites regarding Germany.

Although the allies have failed to reach agreements on denazification, centralization, democratization and demilitarization, the key dispute is economic. It goes back to the economic conceptions of each of the four powers.

Ties Them Together

Russia ties economics and politics together in state-owned enterprises. The United States believes in capitalistic free enterprise and separation of economic and political life. Socialistic Britain sees advantage in a socialized Germany. France, overrun twice in this century by Germans, puts security above all and believes Germany should be de-industrialized.

Despite these opposing views, there is a key in Germany which could start a settlement in this field, and that is "reparations."

Russia has clearly indicated that reparations are her number one interest. Whenever it comes to a question of getting increased reparations and making enemies in Germany or giving up reparations in an effort to woo Germany to the communist cause, Moscow always takes the reparations, sometimes much to the embarrassment of its representatives here.

Russia's driving need for goods has outweighed all her other policies in Germany so far and undoubtedly will continue to do so. When the war ended, the Russia zone was the only one of the four in Germany that could be made self-sufficient.

The Russians started moving factories to Russia. This did not work, so they kept the factories in Germany and took reparations from production, using German labor.

The Russian reparations policy within the Soviet Zone ran for a year or more on current stocks. Then the Russians began to need steel and other goods, so they beat the drums for economic unity and demanded that the zones be united as specified at Potsdam—but on Russian terms—and probably will press for it at Moscow.

Some American and British officials express fear that, in an effort to achieve "quick results," their countries may make disastrous concessions at Moscow. "This is no time for quick decisions," one official said. "We in the west, through our bizonal merger, can see light ahead for the first time."

Iturbi Fails to Get
Barrage of Tomatoes

Miami, Fla., March 6 (P)—Jose Iturbi, the pianist, gave his recital here last night—but without a tomato accompaniment.

A barrage of tomatoes—"good and rotten"—had been promised the noted concert player by Mrs. Harmon Spencer Auguste, New York Socialite who expressed annoyance at Iturbi's failure to attend a dinner in his honor Tuesday night at Miami Beach.

Illness, Iturbi said, kept him from the dinner, at which Mrs. Auguste was to have been one of the hostesses.

Mrs. Auguste, wife of a New York banker, told the pianist's sister, Amparo Iturbi, that if they sought to stage the concert, she would "bust it up."

The concert, however, went off peacefully.

Mrs. Auguste, who said she had a ticket to a seat in the third row, danced and dined instead at a night club several miles away.

Asked if she thought she would have hit Iturbi with a tomato if she had attended the recital, Mrs. Auguste said—

"I'm from Texas."

Boulder Dam May Become 'Hoover' Despite New Deal

Washington, March 6 (AP)—House Republicans got their chance today to set up a monument to the last U.S. president—Herbert Hoover—and at the same time "right a great wrong." After 14 years, they were ready to designate mammoth Boulder Dam on the Colorado river Hoover Dam once more.

Senate approval and President Truman's signature still will be required. Okayed only Tuesday by the House Public Lands Committee, the name-changing resolution won a quick place on the chamber's calendar for a vote today.

To many Republican members the action brought an opportunity they have been waiting for since 1933.

'These Days'

By George E. Sokolsky

THE STRUGGLE FOR SURVIVAL

The American delegation to the Moscow Conference will deal not so much with Germany and Austria as with the survival of our world. Should we fail at Moscow, it will be because of compromises and appeasements which may be arranged to give the impression of success. Such a "success" will be greater defeat than total inaction.

Let me explain: The margins outside this totalitarian world are growing increasingly narrow since the defeat of Hitler. It may soon be that France and Italy will be forced to accept Russian dictation. It may be that civil war in Spain will close off the Mediterranean where Greece is still a stronghold of our civilization. On the continent of Europe, there are still spots of light, but the shadow is falling over them. It is as though there were an eclipse of the sun; not yet a full and total eclipse, but frightening nonetheless.

All this, the United States remains an island of Western thought and Western ways of life. Even the economics of Communism are at this moment less sinister than the attitude of totalitarianism toward Man.

Our way of life is based upon the theory that man, because he was created a human being, is possessed of inalienable rights which no government, no combination of governments, no laws, no constitutions, can morally take from him. We believe that in a conflict between the authority of power and moral law, moral law must prevail. Therefore, the individual stands higher than the State, which can only exist by the consent of the majority of the people who have a right to a government of their own choosing. We go further: We believe that the dissatisfied and frustrated individual, of his free choice, may express his dissatisfaction with a government that displeases him and he may unhampered leave that country, even of his birth, and find some other place to live.

We acknowledge the inalienability of human rights, based upon moral law as expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Beatitudes and the structure of free action, within the law, as conceived by Western philosophy during some 6,000 years of human development.

It is this that the American delegation to Moscow have to fight for rather than boundaries and structures of government. They have to seek to re-establish in Europe the rights of Man to live by moral law in the wide areas of activity where moral law must prevail if our civilization is not to be eradicated. At previous conferences, at Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam, our delegations were diverted from the main tasks by what they assumed to be the necessities of the moment. Actually, in politics, there are no necessities of the moment, for everything that is done, every little act, leaves its permanent mark upon history and influences the long-range position. We know today that Teheran was a mischievous error and Yalta a brutal crime, as we know that the Morgenthau Plan adopted at Potsdam was an acknowledgment by the United States that we had lost the war, not to Germany, of course, but to Soviet Russia.

The Western world cannot stand the shock of another Potsdam. What has been happening to Great Britain is partly due to the defeats encountered by the United States and Great Britain at these conferences. Another defeat and the United States will begin to feel the effects of a stagnant world in which the dead hand of totalitarianism keeps the mind enslaved and obscured, and makes the person of man a thing of whatever tyranny controls him.

This is a far cry from the business which usually engages the attention of politicians and diplomats; nevertheless, it is precisely what they will either decide upon or evade. And the future of hundreds of millions for many generations will be controlled by these decisions or lack of decisions. Perhaps that is why this particular conference is being held in Moscow, which, as of today, dominates the affairs of men. The ostriches who refuse to face that historic fact undermine the concepts of life which they pretend to regard as important to them. They are like the drunk who never knows when he has hit the bottom.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M. D.

INFECTED SINUS

During the flu epidemic of 1918 and 1919 we had in our base hospital hundreds of cases where the influenza organisms either started sinus infection or lighted up an old sinus infection. In many cases the infection traveled to the middle ear and from the middle ear to the spongy bone behind the ear (mastoid) causing mastoiditis, which meant the removal of much of the mastoid bone containing pus.

We are all aware of the large number of individuals who suffer with sinusitis (inflammation of one or more of the sinuses, three on each side of face adjoining the nose). We know that many of these cases require operation to enable thick mucous or pus to drain out of the sinuses. What we do not know is that just as a tooth, tonsils, sinuses and gall bladder can cause diseases of heart, blood-vessels, kidneys and organs, so also can an infected sinus, yet few if any patients suspect the infected sinus and unfortunately also many physicians.

In Southern Medical Journal, Dr. M. M. Cullom, Professor, Ear, Nose and Throat, Vanderbilt University, Tenn., points out that inability of the sinus to empty itself, or have its mucous or pus drain out, causes disease in various parts of the body.

1. At least 91 per cent of infections (with pus) in middle ear and mastoid are the result of an infection of a sinus nearly always on the same side as the infected ear and mastoid.

2. About 91 per cent of those having scarlet fever have also infection of the sinuses.

3. A large percentage of those so infected are left with a chronic sinus infection that tends to last throughout life unless recognized and treated.

4. These chronic ever-present infections are a menace to the life, health and hearing of those so infected and make the victim a carrier who infects others by contact and starts epidemics.

5. What is thought to be an acute or fresh attack of sinus infection is often the lighting up or stirring up of a chronic sinus infection.

Dr. Cullom states further that sinus infection is the cause of many cases of asthma and in his experience in every case that submitted to an operation to properly drain the sinus the patient was either cured or greatly benefited.

EFFECT OF SMALL HOMES

The $1,300-a-room apartment house of 1942 now costs about $2,200 a room and the $5,000 house of 1939 about $9,400, according to an eastern real estate operator. Construction wages are up. Building material costs have increased tremendously since 1939, including brick, up 96 per cent; oak flooring 120 per cent; lumber 150 per cent; plaster 58 per cent and so on. For the past 16 years, and particularly during the war period, American building has been way below demand. As a result of this dwelling lack and these high costs it will be several years before the house shortage is eased.

Consequently, the homes that do go up will be small ones, and for a long time to come. Grandma's house with its front and back parlor, its big kitchen with the range in it, the summer kitchen and the butternut—all this is receding so far into the past that soon it will be almost folk lore. All rooms that can be eliminated will be—dining rooms, for example. Furniture will be telescoped to fit, with tiered bunks instead of beds, built-in drawers or shelves for dressers and no place at all for the full-sized grand piano Aunt Mame willed the family.

The smaller house will have its effect on national trends. What will they be? Smaller families? Less time spent at home, more in the out of doors, in the automobile? It will be interesting to watch the tendencies.

Mankind demands steel and bombs, when what it needs is common sense and human kindness.

GEOGRAPHICAL RECORD

Admiral Byrd has just made a unique record. By flying over the South Pole he becomes the only man in the world who has been there twice. He flew over the Pole in 1929. As he has also flown over the North Pole, he is the only person who has been to the ends of the earth three times.

Add that his present Antarctic expedition has discovered more unknown territory in a short time than any other on record, and one thing becomes certain: Whoever else living in 1947 may also become immortalized in history, that destiny is plainly reserved for Admiral Richard F. Byrd.

An unfortunate campaigner once promised two cars in every garage. One, if a new one, now seems the height of luxury.

TRAVEL DAYS

What will it be? Golf under the palms in the Sunshine State of Florida? Georgian gardens along the Ashley river in South Carolina? The cuisine of New Orleans' French Quarter, the Civil War battlefields of Tennessee? Once again tourists may hie themselves southward to meet the spring. Or they may read the fascinating travel advertisements in every newspaper and magazine.

America is traveling again. But notice it's Older America that's on the move. Young America is staying home, and glad of the chance, though home may be a crowded three rooms with baby's wash hanging up all over them. The young have had enough of globe-trotting for a while. But the oldsters who stuck to the home front during the war, find now they have itching feet. Besides, aren't they entitled to a little change? Despite some fears to the contrary, it's been a great resort winter, and it bids fair to be a better resort spring and a glorious vacation summer.

You can't beat this political game—another potential office-holder is born every minute.

BETTER MINE PORTALS

From St. Clairsville, Ohio, in the soft coal mining district, comes news of innovations in portals, or entrances to mines. In a newly built portal, the miners enter four miles nearer their job than formerly, and a short elevator ride, a well-lighted concrete corridor and a draft-preventing revolving door hasten and make pleasanter their progress. Further improvements include showers,

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

William Green and other professionals of the union movement, in their appearances before Congressional committees, have made the irrelevant and untrue statement that there is a hidden purpose by some unidentified force to destroy our unions by legislation ostensibly intended only to place them under wise restraints.

No such intention has been avowed or revealed anywhere in the hearings or in a decade and more of proceedings leading up to them. The only purposes that have been stated are legitimate. They are to dissolve the labor monopoly now operated by about 100 individuals who control key unions and have the power to blackmail the entire American people; to put down racketeering by notorious rascals to whom the union movement has been given aid and comfort; many times, to reduce to reasonable size the treasuries that unions may amass, and forbid the use of this enormous money-power to swing elections.

On this last point be it remembered that such use of money by soulless corporations has been wisely forbidden by law, but that in the last two years two eminent unionists, Whitney, of the Railroad Teamsters, and Tobin, of the Teamsters, announced their intentions to spend enormously to achieve results in public elections. If United States Steel or the Pennsylvania Railroad had made similar announcements the executives would have been hauled before Federal grand juries in no time. Dissenting stockholders could have gone into court to restrain them from spending their money for political objectives contrary to their own.

The individual member of these two and other great unions enjoys fewer rights and powers under law than the individual holder of a single share of stock in a large corporation. The stockholder can sell out and go his way. If the worker quits the union he can't work. The claim of the boss unioners that "Democracy" prevails in their councils is true, but that is merely another condemnation of democracy. By a process of years this system has placed autocratic powers in the hands of the high executives. If we unwind it back through the resolutions adopted along the line we find that in most cases this power is technically justified by the uniformed and careless votes of momentary majorities in odd meetings. As of now it mounts up to autocracy, with the rank and file denied even recourse to the public courts.

It is important, too, that Green, Whitney, Tobin and many other rulers of vast numbers of American workers all have held their jobs much longer than Franklin D. Roosevelt would have been president of the United States even if he had lived to complete his fourth term. Having built their tight and mighty political machines within their unions, having adopted a system of nepotism, patronage and pork similar to that of our public politics, they maintain themselves in office until they get too old to care any more, or die of old age. Many of them control absolutely groups of workers scattered across the land who are numerically larger than the respective populations of many of our states. They have propaganda departments to glorify them in official journals supported by the members, who thus are required to pay for the opiates used to drug them.

The individual teamster, who may be an 18-year-old kid starting his lading in a warehouse, has no more access to Dan Tobin or power to carry a legitimate, legal grievance to conclusion in the courts than an individual, workaday citizen living in Jersey City has to challenge the power of Frank Hague. Long, professional experience has equipped the clever men in the key jobs to stall, divert and obstruct until the individual worker with the rare gumption to pursue his rights either is lost in a wilderness of technicalities, broke and unable to pay lawyers, or fired from the job and hounded out of the community.

If he still persists, however, he may find that by the process of delay he has permitted the statute of limitations to run against his grievance, and thus discover the courtroom door barred to him, yet the courts will not entertain his

Racing Motorcycles in City

Editor, The Freeman:

Many times in the past I have wanted to write on this subject but refrained. Last September I was standing on Clinton avenue trying to cross over into John street. An elderly lady on the John street side was waiting also to cross over to my side of the street. She waited for traffic. It passed. She thought the way clear and took a step forward. Three motorcycles came racing up the street, weaving in and out of traffic and only by the grace of God the woman escaped death. When I finally reached her the elderly woman was so shocked that she couldn't remember her name or where she lived. A "passerby" finally escorted her home—it being evident he knew the lady.

As I have said I refrained from writing but it has come to the point now that I must write. The motorcycles are now starting racing and cruising again. Since ice and snow are disappearing and with this new traffic regulation at the intersection of Albany avenue, Pearl street and Clinton avenue, it is a hundred times more dangerous. Some person will be killed for I have seen many narrow escapes.

At this writing, 2:30 o'clock Saturday, the motorcycle has raced up and down this street four times in about 15 minutes. Surely motorcycles are alright. They must be lots of fun, but why must they indulge in racing in the city? I wish the city fathers could hear sometimes the noise of horns, etc., when a stranger fails to see that green arrow above the red light. The noise wouldn't be tolerated in New York city.

Today in Washington

Most Recent Poll Gives Both Parties Reason to Do Some Introspective Thinking
 By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 6—The latest Gallup poll affords an opportunity for both Republicans and Democrats to do a bit of self-examination. For it shows that the Democrats, if the presidential election were held today, would get 51 per cent of the vote and the Republicans 49.

This shift from last November, when the percentage was 45 Democrats and 55 Republican, is somewhat of a surprise to the Republicans, but it is even more surprising when it is noted that the climb upward occurred almost entirely before the Republicans took control of Congress in January.

Thus, the Democrats had the better of it on a 55-to-45 basis in February 1946 and gradually slumped downward to the low point in November 1946 when they had 45 per cent of the vote according to the poll. Then the Democrats regained their strength almost immediately after the election and by January had reached a 50 per cent figure. Only one point has been added since the Republican Congress came into being last January.

The Democrats may see in this gain prior to January confirmation of the belief of some of their experts that the November election was a negative operation and that it was a vote against governmental control and especially against restrictions on the sale of meat which affected every household.

It will be recalled that President Truman, in the middle of the campaign, began lifting controls but didn't get them all lifted soon enough to turn the tide. He kept on removing various controls in November and December, and in this way corrected the situation that was alienating many Democratic votes.

But it is possible also to find another potent reason for the rise in Democratic strength last December. This was the time of the coal strike. President Truman handled the situation with a firm hand and filed court proceedings against John L. Lewis—a step that undoubtedly increased Mr. Truman's popularity. In fact, everything that Mr. Truman has done since the election in November has seemed to favor the conservative rather than the radical side. This may mean that his gains are from the ranks of conservatives. Certainly Mr. Truman has not been giving much comfort to the "left wingers" either in his policies or his appointments.

The poll is by no means an indication of what may happen in 1948, for, since the Democratic party dropped from 55 to 45 points in the months between February and November during 1946, there can be equally wide fluctuations in the 21 months between now and the presidential election.

If there is an economic "recession," for example, it will most certainly hurt the Truman cause. This is because the record of Truman encouragement to labor unions to demand the same pay that was paid for regular work weeks plus overtime during war-time as compensation for less working hours in the post-war period threw the whole economic system into its present imbalance. "More pay for less work" is an easily understood slogan. The revolt of the teachers and other workers today who are trying to meet with their meagre fixed incomes the prices forced by labor union leaders in 1945 and 1946 is going to be recognized as one of the many effects of our economic imbalance.

The high price level can be traced directly to the impetus given wage increases immediately after V-J Day by President Truman, who urged that prices be held down while wages were increased. The recession or depression, if it comes in 1947 as so many of the economists are predicting or even early in 1948, will unquestionably lead to a nationwide debate as to the responsibility for the downward trend. Undoubtedly there will be some unemployment, too.

The recession can, of course, be avoided. A substantial increase in productivity by labor and a willingness on the part of labor to help write fairness into the labor laws would do much toward creating a new spirit of enterprise in America. It is to every body's interest to prevent an economic recession and the country is not concerned with what avoidance of an economic upset. The Democrats will derive the biggest advantage from such contingency, but it remains to be seen whether twelve years of Democratic rule in the White House will of itself bring a demand for a change in November, 1948.

GERMANS PREFER AMERICA

The recent admission by General McNarney, retiring chief of our occupation forces in Germany, that the Army has failed in its mission there and that it is not the proper vehicle for re-educating Germans, was encouraging. If we are willing to admit certain obvious mistakes and to profit by the experience, we doubtless can establish a successful occupation policy and machine in Germany.

From as far removed as Hollywood you could see that the Army was not the proper arm of this government to plant the seed of democracy in the peoples it had crushed. Armies are important when force is needed; but force is hardly a suitable principle for selling ideas.

As a matter of fact, that part of Germany under the Stars and Stripes has done better than the other three zones. Two observers just back from there, where they served in official assignments for several months, say the people are at work again. They say also that Germans prefer America over other nations. The fact that the occupation army always is despised by its "subjects". But many of our occupation policies and handicaps have worked against this good will. One of these is the use of pink faced boys as soldiers. Inexperienced youths are made to look silly, for instance, when they try to handle crowds which any seasoned sergeant could whip into order at the blow of his whistle.

Apparently our occupying forces are not yet willing to let the under dog forget the war and get back to normal. We are too much regimented. Instead of turning the people loose to plan and do for themselves. Traditionally, the Germans are among the world's most energetic and resourceful people. The longer we hold them down the longer will we have to help support them.

In spite of handicaps—including shortage of raw materials, caused in part by the zoning system—a new crop of small industries has sprung up in the Munich area. At a recent exposition at Munich several scores of articles made for export were on display. Hunger is the greatest immediate handicap. In the U. S. zone five ration cards are standard. No. 1, the most bounteous, is for top government officials. No. 2, next best, is for civilians employed by our forces. The best of these is equal to about two-thirds the average American daily diet.

Ration No. 3 is for all full time workers, skilled and unskilled. Here is the rub, because it supplies only 1550 calories a day—just half what the American worker eats. The man expected to rebuild German industry and business is lousy from a daily menu of bread, potatoes and cabbage. Hunger is the greatest immediate handicap. No. 5 is for part time workers. No. 5 isn't worth standing in line for.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

In the Chips

Berwick, Pa., March 6 (AP)—Mrs. Hensyl Garrison accidentally dropped her diamond engagement ring in a 25-cent bag of potato chips she was packaging. She didn't discover the loss until after 300 bags she had filled were shipped out of a plant here, en route to a store somewhere in the United States.

Late Delivery

San Francisco, March 6 (AP)—Thirty-nine tenants of an apartment house received typewritten notices under their doors saying the rent was going up 10 to 15 per cent.

Within a few minutes the switchboard operator at the Office of Temporary Controls had a busy time. O.T.C. agreed with each caller—rents were still frozen.

The surprised owner investigated and came up with the answer. Several months ago when legal rent boosts seemed likely, the management had preparedness notes written.

Yesterday the janitor found and delivered them.

Unique Procedure

Portland, Ore., March 6 (AP)—Municipal Judge J. J. Quillin sus-

"You are the first Californian in this court in the past two months who was going less than 50 miles per hour," said Judge Quillin. "I would almost say you were deserving of a medal."

Sweet Moos

South Bend, Ind., March 6 (AP)—When Mrs. Emmanuel Florida's cow was stricken with a dietary ailment and a veterinarian prescribed sugar—several pounds—Mrs. Florida found her rationed supply was not enough.

She applied for additional sugar at the O.P.A. office but was told the application would have to be sent to the Cleveland O.P.A. regional office for processing. But the cow was too sick to wait for O.P.A. procedure and Mrs. Florida's neighbors responded with sufficient supplies. Bossy is recovering.

Small Beef

Chicago, March 6 (AP)—Commission men at the stockyards gaped yesterday at a dwarf Aberdeen-Angus heifer weighing about 200 pounds and standing about 15 inches high.

The tiny beef animal, named "Shorty" by Maurice Meyer, a yards buyer, who bought the oddity to "keep around for a while." The animal, consigned to the yards by Connie Thines of Sprague-

Her Friends Say:
"She is Skinny"

If she only knew that she could put on five pounds of extra healthy flesh in perhaps thirty days, she wouldn't be worrying about her weight. She wouldn't be following the dieting fad, and she wouldn't be taking the medicine that makes her feel like a prisoner.

Today, doctors prescribe LIVER OIL EXTRACT as a remedy for thinness. It is the most important nutrient for building up skin, weak and tired people who are in the form of a skeleton. These tablets have been proven by more than twenty-three years of use as an aid to restoring health and vigor. They are good enough to prove to yourself that you feel and look better after a thirty day trial.

British Work Out
'Double Day' Shifts

London, March 6 (AP)—British industry and the Trades Union Congress were reported near agreement today on a plan for "double day shifts" to ease the burden on fuel-short power stations by spreading the load.

Under this plan, which won tentative approval last night from a special TUC committee, half the factories in a given section would begin their eight-hour day at 6 a. m. and the other half at 2 p. m. The government had proposed that a third of British industry be put on nights, but an official source said this had drawn criticism from both sides. He said that the government soon would announce a system whereby gas and electricity would be rationed, like food, on an individual basis for the next two or three years.

Search for Peace at Moscow

(J. Wes Gallagher, who has covered virtually all western European countries and has headed The Associated Press staff in Germany since the war, has written the following summary of international aims with regard to Germany preparatory to going to Moscow for the four-power conference.)

By WES GALLAGHER

Berlin, March 6 (AP)—Most veteran officials in this four-power capital are extremely gloomy about the prospect of getting any constructive program for Germany out of the Moscow Foreign Ministers' Conference.

Eighteen months of wrangling has turned the Allied Control Council to a "no decision" debating society.

Authoritative sources report that the 750-page Allied Council "report" to the Foreign Ministers' Conference contains no indication of a compromise on any major issue.

Talk in Washington, Moscow, London or Paris of compromises has not been reflected by acts in Germany, where zonal gulfs have steadily widened, accompanied by a violent Russian propaganda campaign against the western powers.

Briefly, the position of the powers in Germany can be summed up as follows:

Russia—wants political unification under Russian definition of "democratic processes." Wants economic unification if this means Russia would get reparations from the western zones without interfering with her own reparations program in her zone.

Britain—favors central political administration, but with safeguards for political parties. Not so strong for federalized states as the Americans. Determined Germany must pay her own way before reparations are taken out, and will probably ask for an increased level of industry.

Favors Central Government.

United States—favors a central government, but one curbed by a strong federal state system. Believes political unification can come only with economic unity. Determined Germany must be rebuilt to pay her own way, and that reparations must come second to an important export program aimed at self-sufficiency.

France—opposes a central political government unless under direct four-power supervision. Favors a system of loosely federalized German states with strong local powers. Opposes a high industrial level, wants factories removed to neighboring countries with Germany supplying the coal to run them, and wants an internationalized Ruhr coupled with considerable boundary imputation.

Reports in Paris and Washington that France and Russia will combine at Moscow against Britain and America are difficult to substantiate since they are almost exact opposites regarding Germany.

Although the allies have failed to reach agreements on denazification, centralization, democratization and demilitarization, the key dispute is economic. It goes back to the economic conceptions of each of the four powers.

Russia ties economic and political together in state-owned enterprises. The United States believes in capitalistic free enterprise and separation of economic and political life. Socialistic Britain sees advantage in a socialized Germany. France, over-run twice in this century by Germans, puts security above all and believes Germany should be de-industrialized.

Despite these opposing views, there is a key in Germany which could start a settlement in this field, and that is "reparations."

Russia has clearly indicated that reparations are her number one interest. Whenever it comes to a question of getting increased reparations, the Soviet Union is in Germany or giving up reparations in an effort to woo Germany to the Communist cause, Moscow always takes the reparations, sometimes much to the embarrassment of its representatives here.

The Russians driving need for goods has outweighed all her other policies in Germany so far and undoubtedly will continue to do so.

When the war ended, the Russian zone was the only one of the four in Germany that could be made self-sufficient.

The Russians started moving factories to Russia. This did not work, so they kept the factories in Germany and took reparations from production, using German labor.

The Russian reparations policy within the Soviet Zone ran for a year or more on current stocks. Then the Russians began to need steel and other goods, so they beat the drums for economic unity and demanded that the zones be united as specified at Potsdam—but on Russian terms—and probably will press for it at Moscow.

Some American and British officials express fear that, in an effort to achieve "quick results," their countries may make disastrous concessions at Moscow.

This is no time for quick decisions," one official said. "We in the west, through our bizonal merger, can see light ahead for the first time."

Iturbi Fails to Get
Barrage of Tomatoes

Miami, Fla., March 6 (AP)—Jose Iturbi, the pianist, gave his recital here last night—but without a tomato accompaniment.

A barrage of tomatoes—"good and rotten"—had been promised the noted concert player by Mrs. Harmon Spencer Auguste, New York Socialist who expressed annoyance at Iturbi's failure to attend a dinner in his honor Tuesday night at Miami Beach.

Illness, Iturbi said, kept him from the dinner, at which Mrs. Auguste was to have been one of the hostesses.

Mrs. Auguste, wife of a New York banker, told the pianist's sister, Amparo Iturbi, that if they sought to stage the concert, she would "bust it up."

The concert, however, went off peacefully.

Mrs. Auguste, who said she had a ticket to a seat in the third row, danced and dined instead at a night club several miles away.

Asked if she thought she would have hit Iturbi with a tomato if she had attended the recital, Mrs. Auguste said: "I'm from Texas."

Week-End Precipitation

The snow and rain Saturday and Sunday was equivalent to 2.22 inches of rainfall, as measured by the gauge at the Ashokan reservoir. This is over twice as much as the entire precipitation at that point during the month of February, when the total was 1.02 inches, the lowest for the month since the New York City Department of Water Supply began recording the rainfall at Ashokan.

Winter Night

As I retired last night, I saw a golden moon arising. And, shining through the leafless trees, its beauty was surprising. The sky was dark-a winter blue, but fluffy clouds of white were floating very rapidly across the peaceful night. As countless stars shone vividly and sparkled in their places, It seemed I'd never seen a night so full of Nature's graces. Entranced, I gathered loveliness.

My heart will always keep Among its treasured memories; and then—I went to sleep.

N. L. R. B. Chairman Attacks Wagner Act Changes, Fears Round of National Strikes

Washington, March 6 (AP)—Chairman Paul M. Herzog of the National Labor Relations Board said today proposed changes in the Wagner Collective Bargaining Act could set off a nationwide round of strikes.

But the U. S. Chamber of Commerce declared that "employers cannot rest easy" until Congress rewrites parts of the law to wipe out any questions of its intent.

The divergent views were prepared for Senate and House Labor Committees, both of which are considering amendments to the basic Labor Relations Act, along with other measures designed to reduce industrial strife.

Herzog, whose job is to help administer the Wagner Act, said the strike wave might materialize if all provisions of pending overhaul bills were adopted, even though "no strike could be lawful" under one of them once an employer made a simple back-to-work offer.

The N. L. R. B. put it this way in his statement submitted to the Senate committee:

"At best, several years of uncertainty and court litigation would now flow from enactment of many of the proposals that amend the act."

"At worst, American workingmen and their representatives would so resent the destruction of rights they have so recently won that work stoppages would sweep the country."

C. of C. Stand Given
The Chamber of Commerce stand was outlined for the House Committee by Herman W. Steinkraus, chairman of the business organization's Labor Relations Committee.

His testimony said "vast areas" of the Wagner Act have been left to interpretation by Herzog's board.

Because of "shifts in the board's policies," he said, "the employer has never known when a long-established administrative ruling would suddenly be changed with new and unforeseen results."

Raymond S. Smethurst, counsel for the National Association of Manufacturers, told the Senate committee yesterday pending bills to change the act have prompted several recent reversals of N. L. R. B. policies. He urged Congress to act anyway.

Herzog took note of this situation saying the trend has been to write into N. L. R. B. decisions principles which some Congress members want to put into law.

Herzog said these amendments to the Wagner Act would "put each individual employee at the mercy" of his employer:

1. Making strikes illegal when called "to remedy practices for which an administrative remedy (appeal to the N. L. R. B.) is available." Herzog contended this asks workers "to drop their guard completely and rely upon the slow and frequently uncertain remedies provided by the board."

2. Allowing employers to fire strikers when they reject a back-to-work offer.

3. Outlawing of jurisdictional strikes, precipitated by disputes over which union should do certain work.

4. Prohibiting strikes by a union which has not been certified as bargaining agency by the N. L. R. B.

5. Requiring workers of the collective bargaining rights if they struck during a 60-day cooling off period.

Herzog said this type of legislation "perhaps would bring about peace, through fear, in some situations, but peace at a price that Congress surely does not want all American workers to have to pay."

Suggests Two Changes
Herzog did suggest two changes in the act.

One would prohibit strikes "which undermine the board's own certification." These would be designated an unfair labor practice.

The other change would allow workers to re-select their union when a contract was about to expire, "without fear of discharge under a closed shop provision in the existing agreement."

Secretary of Labor Stephen B. Spivey said he would follow Herzog to the stand later in the day.

Steinkraus said at the House hearing that one example of uncertainty in the Wagner Act concerns the issue of free speech by employers.

For several years, he said, N. L. R. B. rulings did not permit employers "to express any opinion whatsoever about unions. That was the 'neutrality' the board said the Wagner Act required."

"The Supreme Court finally changed the rule," the witness continued, "to allow the employer to express an opinion not containing threats or 'not set in a context of coercion.'"

"At present, the board shows a tendency to break away from its earlier course and to consider employer statements on their own merits, and not as set in any 'context of coercion.'"

"Employers cannot rest easy, however. So often do board views change that employers overnight may find themselves again forbidden to express any opinion whatsoever to their employees about unions."

Gives Suggestions
Steinkraus said the chamber also would like to see the Wagner Act amended to forbid unfair labor practices on the part of employers as well as employees. He suggested these should include:

1. Failure to bargain in good faith.

2. Promoting jurisdictional strikes (such as disputes between unions over whose members shall perform certain work), sympathetic strikes and strikes in breach of contract.

3. Engaging in mass picketing, physical force and violence.

"The Chamber maintains," Steinkraus said, "that it is a fundamental principle that there should be equality before the law. That principle is not recognized in the National Labor Relations Act."

Battle Is Shaping Over Young-Demo Bill on Rebates

Albany, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—Battle lines formed in the Legislature today for a fight over the Young-Demo bill which would enable the state to grant employers about $125,000,000 in unemployment insurance tax rebates this year.

The controversial measure, supported by business interests and opposed by organized labor, was reported out of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee yesterday for a floor vote.

The committee came on part lines with the Democratic minority objecting.

Employer rebates in the form of tax credits, have totalled $156,000,000 the last two years. But there will be none this year unless the Legislature approves the Young-Demo bill or similar specific legislation affecting the unemployment insurance reserve fund requirements.

Some political observers expect the Republican-controlled Legislature to approve a compromise version of the bill.

The Legislature continued to pass non-controversial legislation in wholesale lots as it drove toward a tentative March 15 adjournment date. The Senate and Assembly passed 126 measures yesterday, raising their three-day total to 420.

Introduction of a dozen bills today boosted the session total to 5,211, topping the previous record of 5,211 established last year.

The Assembly Ways and Means Committee, meanwhile, killed a bill sponsored by Assemblyman Robert J. Crews, Brooklyn Republican, that would have authorized the Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority to have constructed a $20,000,000 sports arena and exposition hall with a bus and parking terminal at Columbus Circle in New York City.

It would have been leased to the Madison Square Garden Corporation.

Paris Father Knew Of Bribe Attempts

of $2,500 plus $1,000 bets in their names, they and Paris testified.

The three now on trial on bribery and conspiracy indictments are David (Pete) Krakauer, 44; Jerome Zarowitz, 32; and Harvey Stemmer, 36, who, the State contends, "counseled and commanded" Paris. Stemmer is in jail in connection with efforts to bribe Brooklyn College basketball players.

Says Visits Made
The elder Paris testified that Stemmer visited his hotel goods office three or four times last November and December while he was serving time at Rikers Island penitentiary.

Meanwhile, Ida McGuire, 23, pretty Hollywood bit player said by the younger Paris to have organized a cocktail party he gave the two Giant players, waited to take the stand.

Night club jaunts and parties attended by "business girls" he invited had been mentioned in Paris' direct testimony, by which the State had sought to link the three defendants with the bribe attempt.

Under defense questioning, Paris admitted he lied in a signed statement made the day of his arrest, Dec. 15, to "protect a lot of people." He said he then claimed the bribe attempt was his own idea because "I didn't think the crime was as serious as it turned out to be."

Asked whom he was protecting, Paris replied: "Hapes, Filchok, Stemmer, Krakauer, Zarowitz and some girls."

Leases and final instructions on conditions governing occupancy of the apartments. Many in the group said they would start setting up the new homes this afternoon.

Completion of the 32-family emergency housing project is not expected until June. The project was built under Governor Thomas E. Dewey's $65,000,000 program to construct emergency housing and educational facilities for veterans in this state.

The Kingston housing development was constructed by local labor under the supervision of the State Department of Public Works. The temporary development consists of 2, 3 and 4-room apartments in remodeled military buildings disassembled at the grounds of the Rockland State Hospital and Camp Shanks, transported in sections to Kingston and rebuilt on the site. The State Division of Housing planned the project and will supervise its operation.

The project was designed by Albert E. Milliken, local architect and Slover, Janzen and Schline were the contractors.

Latterday Saints Missionaries at Rotary

Four missionaries of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latterday Saints, commonly called Mormons, who are in this city were guests of the Rotary Club Wednesday.

Presented by Earl Tandy, the missionaries explained their religious body, their doctrines, practices, ceremonies and church government.

The Book of Mormon, one of the authoritative writings of the church is the record of certain ancient peoples in America written on golden plates and discovered by Joseph Smith in Western New York and translated by him in 1830 when the church was founded.

The growth of the church and the temples erected throughout the country also were outlined.

Attend Sales Meeting
S. H. Brown of the Hudson Valley Service Corporation in Kingston has returned from an executives' sales meeting in New York. The sessions, which were attended by more than 100 distributors of Cities Service Oil products in 13 Northeastern states, were held last week-end at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

During the meetings, officials outlined advertising, merchandising and training plans for the coming year; a continuing program of training Cities Service dealers in extra services for the motorists was stressed. A motion picture was shown which dramatized modern merchandising at the service station and pointed out the advantages to dealers of hiring ex-G.I.'s as station help.

Mr. Truman said the pattern of international trade most conducive to freedom of enterprise is one in which the major decisions are made not by governments but by "private buyers and sellers, under conditions of active competition, and with proper safeguards against the establishment of monopolies and cartels."

He described the opposite pattern as one where governments make the decisions, with public officials dictating the quantity of purchases and sales, sources of imports and destination of exports.

"This was the pattern of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries," the President said. "Unless we act, and act decisively, it will be the pattern of the next century."

Everywhere on earth, he went on, nations are under "economic pressure," with a tendency toward rigid control of imports.

"If this trend is not reversed," he said, "the government of the United States will be under pressure, sooner or later, to use these same devices in the fight for markets and for raw materials. And if the government were to yield to this pressure, it would shortly find itself in the business of allocating foreign goods among importers and foreign markets among exporters and telling every trader what he could buy or sell, and how much, and when, and where."

"This is precisely what we have been trying to get away from, as rapidly as possible, ever since the war. It is not the American way. It is not the way to peace."

He said reduction of trade barriers is a "settled policy" of this government, one of the "cornerstones of our plans for peace," and "a policy from which we cannot—and must not—turn aside."

"To those among us—and there are still a few—who would seek to undermine this policy for partisan advantage and go back to the period of high tariffs and economic isolation," he continued, "I can say only this: 'Take care! Times have changed. Our position in the world has changed. The slogans of 1930 or of 1896 are sadly out of date. Isolationism, after two world wars, is a confession of mental and moral bankruptcy.'"

As for bi-partisan cooperation, he said:

"Happily, our foreign economic policy does not now rest upon a base of narrow partisanship. Leaders in both parties have expressed their faith in its essential purposes. Here, as elsewhere in our foreign relations, I shall welcome a continuation of bi-partisan support."

EFFECT OF SMALL HOMES

The $1,300-a-room apartment house of 1942 now costs about $2,200 a room and the $3,000 house of 1939 about $9,400, according to an eastern real estate operator. Construction wages are up. Building material costs have increased tremendously since 1939, including brick, up 96 per cent; oak flooring 120 per cent; lumber 150 per cent; plaster 58 per cent and so on. For the past 16 years, and particularly during the war period, American building has been way below demand. As a result of this dwelling lack and these high costs it will be several years before the house shortage is eased.

Consequently, the homes that do go up will be small ones, and for a long time to come. Grandma's house with its front and back parlor, its big kitchen with the range in it, the summer kitchen and the butternut—all this is receding so far into the past that soon it will be almost folk lore. All rooms that can be eliminated will be—dining rooms, for example. Furniture will be telescoped to fit, with tiered bunks instead of beds, built-in drawers or shelves for dressers and no place at all for the full-sized grand piano Aunt Mame willed the family.

The smaller house will have its effect on national trends. What will they be? Smaller families? Less time spent at home, more in the out of doors, in the automobile? It will be interesting to watch the tendencies.

Mankind demands steel and bombs, when what it needs is common sense and human kindness.

GEOGRAPHICAL RECORD

Admiral Byrd has just made a unique record. By flying over the South Pole he becomes the only man in the world who has been there twice. He flew over the Pole in 1929. As he has also flown over the North Pole, he is the only person who has been to the ends of the earth three times.

Add that his present Antarctic expedition has discovered more unknown territory in a short time than any other on record, and one thing becomes certain: Whoever else living in 1947 may also become immortalized in history, that destiny is plainly reserved for Admiral Richard F. Byrd.

An unfortunate campaigner once promised two cars in every garage. One, if a new one, now seems the height of luxury.

TRAVEL DAYS

What will it be? Golf under the palms in the Sunshine State of Florida? Georgian gardens along the Ashley river in South Carolina? The cuisine of New Orleans? French Quarter, the Civil War battlefields of Tennessee? Once again tourists may hie themselves southward to meet the spring. Or they may read the fascinating travel advertisements in every newspaper and magazine.

America is traveling again. But notice it's Older America that's on the move. Young America is staying home, and glad of the chance, though home may be a crowded three rooms with baby's wash hanging up all over them. The young have had enough of globe-trotting for a while. But the oldsters who stuck to the home front during the war, find now they have itching feet. Besides, aren't they entitled to a little change? Despite some fears to the contrary, it's been a great resort winter, and it bids fair to be a better resort spring and a glorious vacation summer.

You can't beat this political game—another potential office-holder is born every minute.

BETTER MINE PORTALS

From St. Clairsville, Ohio, in the soft coal mining district, comes news of innovations in portals, or entrances to mines. In a newly built portal, the miners enter four miles nearer their job than formerly, and a short elevator ride, a well-lighted concrete corridor and a draft-preventing revolving door hasten and make pleasanter their progress. Further improvements include showers,

THE STRUGGLE FOR SURVIVAL

The American delegation to the Moscow Conference will deal not so much with Germany and Austria as with the survival of our world. Should we fail at Moscow, it will be because of compromises and appeasements which may be arranged to give the impression of success. Such a "success" will be greater defeat than total inaction.

Let me explain: The margins outside this totalitarian world are growing increasingly narrow since the defeat of Hitler. It may soon be that France and Italy will be forced to accept Russian dictation. It may be that civil war in Spain will close off the Mediterranean where Greece is still a stronghold of our civilization. On the continent of Europe, there are still spots of light, but the shadow is falling over them. It is as though there were an eclipse of the sun; not yet a full and total eclipse, but frightening nonetheless.

In all this, the United States remains an island of Western thought and Western ways of life. Even the economics of Communism are at this moment less sinister than the attitude of totalitarianism toward Man.

Our way of life is based upon the theory that man, because he was created a human being, is possessed of inalienable rights which no government, no combination of governments, no laws, no constitutions, can morally take from him. We believe that in a conflict between the authority of power and moral law, moral law must prevail. Therefore, the individual stands higher than the State, which can only exist by the consent of the majority of the people who have a right to a government of their own choosing. We go further: We believe that the dissatisfied and frustrated individual, of his free choice, may express his dissatisfaction with a government that displeases him and he may unhindered leave that country, even of his birth, and find some other place to live.

We acknowledge the inalienability of human rights, based upon moral law as expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Decalogue and the structure of free action, within the law, as conceived by Western philosophy during some 6,000 years of human development.

It is this that the American delegation to Moscow have to fight for rather than boundaries and structures of government. They have to seek to re-establish in Europe the rights of Man to live by moral law in the wide areas of light, but in areas where moral law must prevail if our civilization is not to be eradicated. At previous conferences, at Tehran, Yalta and Potsdam, our delegations were diverted from the main tasks by what they assumed to be the necessities of the moment. Actually, in politics, there are no necessities of the moment, for everything that is done, every little act, leaves its permanent mark upon history and influences the long-range position. We know today that the Western world cannot stand the shock of another Potsdam. What has been happening to Great Britain is partly due to the defeats encountered by the United States and Great Britain at these conferences. Another defeat and the United States will begin to feel the effects of a stagnant world which is dominated by totalitarianism. The Western world cannot stand the shock of another Potsdam. What has been happening to Great Britain is partly due to the defeats encountered by the United States and Great Britain at these conferences. What has been happening to Great Britain is partly due to the defeats encountered by the United States and Great Britain at these conferences. Another defeat and the United States will begin to feel the effects of a stagnant world which is dominated by totalitarianism.

This is a far cry from the business which usually engages the attention of politicians and diplomats; nevertheless, it is precisely what they will either decide upon or evade. And the future of hundreds of millions for many generations will be controlled by these decisions or lack of decisions. Perhaps that is why this particular conference is being held in Moscow, which, as of today, dominates the affairs of men. The ostriches who refuse to face that historic fact undermine the concepts of life which they pretend to regard as important to them. They are like the drunk who never knows when he has had too much.

INFECTED SINUS

During the flu epidemic of 1918 and 1919 we had in our base hospital hundreds of cases where the influenza organisms either started sinus infection or lighted up an old sinus infection. In many cases the infection traveled to the middle ear and from the middle ear to the spongy bone behind the ear (mastoid) causing mastoiditis, which meant the removal of much of the mastoid bone containing pus.

We are all aware of the large number of individuals who suffer from sinusitis (inflammation of one or more of the sinuses—three on each side of face; adjoining the nose). We know that many of these cases require operation to enable thick mucous or pus to drain out of the sinuses. What we do not know is that just as infected teeth, tonsils, gums and gall bladder can cause diseases of heart, blood-vessels, kidneys and organs, so also can an infected sinus, yet few if any patients suspect the infected sinus and unfortunately also many physicians.

In Southern Medical Journal, Dr. M. M. Cullom, Professor, Ear, Nose and Throat, Vanderbilt University, Tenn., points out that inability of the sinus to empty itself, or have its mucous or pus drain out, causes disease in various parts of the body.

1. At least 91 per cent of infections (with pus) in middle ear and mastoid are the result of an infection of a sinus nearly always on the same side as the infected ear and mastoid.

2. About 91 per cent of those having scarlet fever have also infection of the sinuses.

3. A large percentage of those so infected are left with a chronic sinus infection that tends to last throughout life unless recognized and treated.

4. These chronic ever present infections are a menace to the life, health and hearing of those so infected and make the victim a carrier who infects others by contact and starts epidemics.

5. What is thought to be an acute or fresh attack of sinus infection is often the lighting up or stirring up of a chronic sinus infection.

Dr. Cullom states further that sinus infection is the cause of many cases of asthma and in his experience, in every case that submitted to an operation to properly drain the sinus the patient was either cured or greatly benefited.

AS PECIER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

William Green and other professionals of the union movement, in their appearances before Congressional committees, have made the irrelevant and untrue statement that there is a hidden purpose by some unidentified force to destroy our unions by legislation ostensibly intended only to place them under wise restraints.

No such intention has been avowed or revealed anywhere in the hearings or in a decade and more of proceedings leading up to them. The only purpose that has been stated is legitimate. They are to dissipate the labor monopoly now operated by about 100 individuals who control key unions and have the power to blackmail the entire American people; to put down racketeering by notorious rascals; to whom Green himself has openly given aid and comfort many times; and to reduce to reasonable size the treasuries that unions manage, and forbid the use of this enormous money-power to swing election.

On this last point he is remembered that such use of money by soulless corporations has been wisely forbidden by law, but that in the last two years two eminent unionists, Whitney, of the Railroad Trainmen, and Tobin, of the Teamsters, announced their intentions of dissolving their unions and distributing their assets. They have been successful in achieving results in public elections. If United States Steel or the Pennsylvania Railroad had made similar announcements the executives would have been hauled before Federal grand juries in no time. Dissenting stockholders could have gone into court to restrain them from spending their money for political objects contrary to their own.

The individual member of these two and other great unions enjoys fewer rights and powers under law than the individual in any other corporation. The stockholder can sell out and go his way. If the worker quits the union he can't work. The claim of the boss unionists that "Democracy" precludes the union is a lie, but that is merely another convenient fiction of democracy. By a process of years this system has placed autocratic powers in the hands of the high executives. If we unwind it back through the resolutions adopted along the line we find that in most cases this power is technically justified by the uniformed and careless votes of momentary majorities in odd meetings. As of now it mounts up to autocracy, with the rank and file denied even recourse to the public courts.

It is important, too, that Green, Whitney, Tobin and many other rulers of vast numbers of American workers all have held their jobs much longer than Franklin D. Roosevelt would have been president of the United States even if he had lived to complete his fourth term. Having built their tight and mighty political machines within their unions, having adopted a system of nepotism and patronage and pork similar to that of our public politics, they maintain themselves in office until they get too old to care any more, or die of old age. Many of them control absolutely groups of workers scattered across the land, which are numerically larger than the respective populations of many of our states. They have propaganda departments to glorify them in official journals supported by the members, who thus are required to pay for the opiates used to drug them.

The individual teamster, who may be an 18-year-old girl sorting bills of lading in a warehouse, has no more access to Dan Tobin or power to carry a legitimate, legal grievance to conclusion in the courts than an individual, working-class citizen living in Jersey City, has to challenge the power of Frank Hague. Long, professional experience has equipped the clever men in the key jobs to stall, divert and obstruct until the individual worker with the rare gumption to pursue his rights either is lost in a wilderness of technicalities, broke and unable to pay lawyers, or fired from the job and hounded out of the community.

If he still persists, however, he may find that by the process of delay he has permitted the statute of limitations to run against his grievance, and thus discover the system itself has now rejected after all planning experience in these courts will not entertain his

Racing Motorcycles in City

Editor, The Freeman:
Many times in the past I have wanted to write on this subject but refrained. Last September I was standing on Clinton Avenue trying to cross over into John Street. An elderly lady on the John street side was waiting also to cross over to my side of the street. She waited for traffic. It passed. She thought the way clear and took a step forward. Three motorcycles came racing up the street weaving in and out of traffic and only by the grace of God the woman escaped injury. When I finally reached her the elderly woman was so shocked that she couldn't remember her name or where she lived. A "passerby" finally escorted her home—being evident he knew the lady.

As I have said I refrained from writing but it has come to the point now that I must write. The motorcycles are now starting their racing and cruising again. Since ice and snow are disappearing and with this new traffic regulation at the intersection of Albany Avenue, Pearl Street and Clinton Avenue, it is a hundred times more dangerous. Some person will be killed for I have seen many narrow escapes.

If this new regulation in traffic must be in effect why not place a traffic policeman there? I am sure it is one of the busy intersections of the city. It is surely a very bad regulation. One cannot come out of the Governor Clinton driveway or out of the Stuyvesant garage in a car without taking the life or lives of others in their stride.

These are some of the narrow escapes I have seen. Elderly people crossing from Pearl Street, either way. Young mothers with baby carriages. St. Joseph's pupils, churchgoers, people crossing to the important post office, narrow escapes from death or worse every day. This happens several times. Besides think of the danger when children are on Academy Green. Believe me their life is at stake every time they enter that beautiful playground. The noise of our city. Why must these motorcycles race, dash in and out of traffic, make noise that deafens everyone within a certain radius? Please, some one, who ever has the power, stop this thing before death takes a hand.

MRS. RAYMOND GROSS

At this writing, 2:30 o'clock Saturday, the motorcycle has raced up and down this street four times in about 15 minutes. Surely motorcycles are alright. They must be lots of fun, but why must they indulge in racing in the city?

I wish the city fathers could hear sometimes the noise of horns, etc., when a stranger fails to stop at a green arrow above the red light. The noise wouldn't be tolerated in New York city.

complaint until he has exhausted all remedies within the union. This is altogether a great wickedness of the American union movement and nobody on the union side will assert that this review is a false or misleading presentation. Nobody on that side will undertake to show that William Green or the executive council of the A. F. of L. ever has taken the initiative against any of the spectacular scoundrels who have been exposed by these essays over a ten-year period, or that Philip Murray, the president of the C. I. O., ever challenged such conditions when he was in a position to do so as an executive with the A. F. of L. I maintain that, as stewards of the rights and interests of the workers, they all had a moral duty to fight these evils and that they were derelict in their failure to do so voluntarily and aggressively.

Now, it being admitted, that these are familiar evils inherent in the American union movement, we may consider that movement defective, not to be destroyed, but to be maintained until, in the course of human progress, we evolve some natural successor. The union movement is not sacred, however, and only an ignoramus, oblivious of history, would say that it is the ultimate and permanent thing. Many vicious union executives understand this to be so and speed up on the form that progress will bring in years to come, after they are gone.

If unionism, as it is today, is the best that Green and his colleagues have to offer, then the American people may well consider whether they should not be destroyed. They must oppose all proposals to improve or cure it as they attempt to kill it. I say it should be preserved, but in a method and mood of law-abiding cooperation with the people of the country. I contend that a system which enables a few men to maintain themselves in these governing jobs for from 20 to 40 years, many of them cushioned with special privilege and royal if not dictatorial powers, is contrary to our political nature and bad for the unions themselves. To the argument that they become more valuable with experience I reply that if they were hired executives, removable for cause, that theory would be good. But they aren't hired. They are elected and re-elected and more often than not by a political process that the nation itself has now rejected after all planning experience in these courts will not entertain his

GERMANS PREFER AMERICA

The recent admission by General McNarney, retiring chief of our occupation forces in Germany, that the Army has failed in its mission there and that it is not the proper vehicle for re-educating Germans, was encouraging. If we are willing to admit certain obvious mistakes and to profit by the experience, we doubtless can establish a successful occupation policy and machine in Germany.

From as far removed as Hollywood you could see that the Army was not the proper arm of this government to plant the seed of democracy in the peoples it had crushed. Armies are important when force is needed; but force is hardly a suitable principle for selling ideas.

As a matter of fact, that part of Germany under the Stars and Stripes has done better than the other three zones. Two observers just back from there, where they served in official assignments for several months, say the people are happy and the people are free. The Germans prefer America over other nations—this despite the fact that an occupation army always is despised by its "subjects".

But many of our occupation policies and handicaps have worked against this good will. One of these is the use of pink faced boys as soldiers. Inexperienced youths are made to look silly, for instance, when they try to handle crowds which any seasoned soldier could whip into order at the blow of his whistle.

Apparently our occupying forces are not yet willing to let the underdog forget the war and get back to normal. We try for too much regimentation, instead of turning the people loose to plan and do for themselves. Traditionally, the Germans are a hard-headed, energetic and resourceful people. The longer we hold them down the longer will we have to help support them.

In spite of handicaps—including shortage of raw materials, caused in part by the zoning system—a new crop of small industries has sprung up in the Munich area. At a recent exposition at Munich several scores of articles made for export were on display.

Hunger is the greatest immediate handicap. In the U. S. zone five ration cards are standard. No. 1 the most bounteous, is for top government officials. No. 2, next best, is for civilians employed by our forces. The best of these is equal to about two-thirds the average American daily diet.

Ration No. 3 is for all full time workers, skilled and unskilled. Here is the rub, because it supplies only 1550 calories a day—just half what the American worker eats. The man expected to rebuild German industry and business is lousy from a daily menu of bread, potatoes and cabbage.

Ration No. 4 is for part time workers. No. 5 for any who will not work. No. 5 isn't worth standing in line for.

Churches are filled on Sunday's. Anti-Semitism is reported as "sur-

Most Recent Poll Gives Both Parties Reason to Do Some Introspective Thinking

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 6—The latest Gallup poll affords an opportunity for both Republicans and Democrats to do a bit of self-examination. For it shows that the Democrats, if the presidential election were held today, would get 51 per cent of the vote and the Republicans 49.

This shift from last November, when the percentage was 45 Democrats and 55 Republican, is somewhat of a surprise to the Republicans, but it is even more surprising when it is noted that the climb upward occurred almost entirely before the Republicans took control of Congress in January.

Thus, the Democrats had the better of it on a 35-45 basis in February, 1946 and gradually slumped downward to the low point in November 1946 when they had 45 per cent of the vote according to the poll. Then the Democrats regained their strength almost immediately after the close of the year. By January had reached a 50 per cent figure. Only one point has been added since the Republican Congress came into being early in January.

The Democrats may see in this gain prior to January confirmation of the belief of some of their experts that the November election was a negative operation and that it was a vote against governmental controls and especially against restrictions on the sale of meat which affected every household.

It will be recalled that President Truman, in the middle of the campaign, began lifting controls but didn't get them all lifted soon enough to turn the tide. He kept on removing various controls in November and December, and this way corrected the situation that was alienating many Democratic votes.

But it is possible also to find another potent reason for the rise in Democratic strength last December. This was the time of the fight to correct the situation that was alienating many Democratic votes. But it is possible also to find another potent reason for the rise in Democratic strength last December. ing to starting automatic increments July 1, 1948, instead of next July 1. They are objecting also to a provision for merit increments, contending this would lead to abuses.

The Condon-Wadlin bill was introduced a few days before 2,400 Buffalo teachers started a week-long strike for higher salaries.

In its original form, the measure provided that in addition to the usual penalties prescribed in the civil service law for neglect of duty, strikers be reduced one salary grade and given no raise for three years.

Excuse Selves

Sponsors of the bill, Senator William F. Condon of Yonkers and Assemblyman John F. Wadlin of Ulster, both Republicans, said in a statement that the measure as amended was "the product of the work of many municipal and state officials who believe it is necessary to restate the fundamental principle which has long been the law of New York that no public employee has a right to strike."

Announcement of the board's action against Cunningham stirred a "walkout" of 200 pupils at the high school Feb. 26. The pupils left the school and marched through the streets of the village with banners asking that their principal be returned. They reported back to classes late in the morning, however, after deciding to carry on their campaign through petition.

A spokesman for the pupils said, following the demonstration, that further reaction of the student body could be expected if the board fails to take satisfactory action on the petition.

In the statement, read to the jury Monday, Stanton said that he received $200 from Forman.

3 More Unions File

New York, March 6 (AP)—Filing of 30-day strike notices by three independent unions brought to nearly 62,000 the number of telephone workers in the New York metropolitan area who have made legal preparations to join a nationwide strike threatened for April 7 by the National Federation of Telephone Workers.

Mrs. Marion L. Horn, president of the United Communications organizations, said its three member unions that submitted strike notices in conformity with the

The Traffic Employees Union, representing 17,500 local operators employed by the New York Telephone Company in New York city; Nassau, Suffolk, Westchester and Rockland counties, and Greenwich, Conn. It includes 1,000 dining service and clerical employees, she said.

The Union of Telephone Workers, with 3,200 members in the company's commercial department.

The Telephone Employees Organization, with 3,000 accounting department workers.

What Operators Want

Mrs. Horn said the local operators seek a $12 weekly pay increase and the accounting and commercial employees $15. Mrs. Horn said present salaries in the U.C.O. unions range from about $28 to $44 a week, with some commercial department workers receiving as much as $80.

Traffic employees on the day shift seek a seven-hour day and 35-hour week, Mrs. Horn said. Strike notices previously had been filed by the United Telephone Organizations, with about 12,000 plant and maintenance workers in this area; the American Union of Telephone Workers, with 8,000 long distance workers in this area and 12,000 elsewhere in the country, and the Western Electric Employees Association, with 18,000 members in Western Electric plants in New York and northern New Jersey. The last two groups are affiliates of the National Federation of Telephone Workers.

Failure to Cash
$200,000 in Checks
Reveals 'Privacy'

New York, March 6 (AP)—Miss Mary B. Powers, elderly resident of the Hotel Seymour, has achieved privacy in mid-Manhattan rivaling that of Ida Walsh Wood, Civil War belle who died in the Herald Square Hotel in 1932 after a half-century of seclusion.

Miss Powers' name figured in a court action this week at Scranton, Pa. The Glen Alden Coal Company disclosed that $25,000 in dividend checks sent Miss Powers during the past eight years had gone uncashed and the state of Pennsylvania asked the court to place the money in escrow for possible escheat to the state.

The checks were addressed to "Mary B. Powers, executrix of the Caroline Powers Estate."

Ralph P. Lohak, manager of the Hotel Seymour, said that Miss Powers had not left her suite in the four years he had been manager. He, a doctor, a waiter and agents of the Fifth Avenue Bank of New York are the only persons she admits to the suite, Lohak said.

As for the bank's knowledge of the story of Miss Powers' seclusion, Edward Streeter, a vice president, told a reporter:

"We don't mean to appear stuffy, but there is only one thing we can say and that is that we cannot possibly give any information."

Lohak said he collects the rent quarterly, the doctor sees Miss Powers once a year, and once a day a waiter brings food and is tipped liberally. She does her own washing and dusting.

Miss Powers has lived at the hotel at least 15 years.

Veterans Want Three
Housing Points Retained

Washington, March 6 (AP)—Ray Sawyer, national commander of the American Veterans of World War 2, said today his organization wants the government to maintain three of the nine regulations in the Veterans Housing Program.

He told reporters he would urge Housing Expediter Frank R. Crocson to keep the $50,000,000 weekly limitation on non-housing construction; the limit of 1,500 square feet of floor space for new dwellings, and veterans preference for purchase or rental of new housing.

Bacitracin Is Used
Successfully to Treat Infections

Chicago, March 6 (AP)—A new germ-killing chemical agent called bacitracin, developed after nearly four years of research, was reported today to have been used successfully in treatment of infections and so powerful that out of 100 patients on whom it was tried 62 were saved from surgery.

Among the infections successfully treated by bacitracin, said the physicians who developed the antibiotic, were boils, carbuncles, sties and ulcers. They reported results were "so speedy they surprised both the patient and the physician. Use of the germ-killer either obviated surgery or speeded recovery after surgery, they said.

Bacitracin, now made up in ointment form that melts at body temperature, was reported in an article of the journal of the American Medical Association as being effective against many of the same organisms as penicillin. But 30 organisms were resistant to penicillin and responded to bacitracin, while six were resistant to bacitracin and susceptible to penicillin. Some organisms were resistant to both.

The new agent was developed from a germ found in the infected wound of Margaret Tracy, 7, who had suffered a compound leg fracture. The germ was subjected to ordinary culture mediums and found to produce a wide spectrum of antibacterial activity. Tests conducted at the Presbyterian Hospital in New York by Dr. Frank L. Meleney and Miss

Balbina Johnson of Columbia University's College of Physicians and surgeons led to the perfection of bacitracin.

Flashes of Life Sketches in Brief

In the Chips
Berwick, Pa., March 6 (AP)—Mrs. Henry Garrison accidentally dropped her diamond engagement ring in a 25-cent bag of potato chips she was packaging.
She didn't discover the loss until after 300 bags she had filled were shipped out of a plant here en route to a store somewhere in the United States.

Late Delivery
San Francisco, March 6 (AP)—Thirty-nine tenants of an apartment house received typewritten notices under their doors saying the rent was going up 10 to 15 per cent.

Within a few minutes the switchboard operator at the Office of Temporary Controls had a busy time. O.T.C. agreed with each caller—rents were still frozen.
The surprised owner investigated and came up with the answer. Several months ago when legal rent boosts seemed likely, the management had prepared notes written.

Yesterday the janitor found and delivered them.
Unique Procedure
Portland, Ore., March 6 (AP)—Municipal Judge J. J. Quinn sus-ponded a speeding fine when he learned Lee Walker, charged with traveling 39 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone, was a former Californian.

"You are the first Californian in this court in the past two months who was going less than 50 miles per hour," said Judge Quinn. "I would almost say you were deserving of a medal."

Sweet Meats
South Bend, Ind., March 6 (AP)—When Mrs. Emmanuel Florida's cow was struck with a dietary ailment and a veterinarian prescribed sugar—several pounds—Mrs. Florida found her rationed supply was not enough.
She applied for additional sugar at the O.P.A. office but was told the application would have to be sent to the Cleveland O.P.A. regional office for processing.
But the cow was too sick to wait for O.P.A. procedure and Mrs. Florida's neighbors responded with sufficient supplies. Bossy is recovering.

Small Beef
Chicago, March 6 (AP)—Commission men at the stockyards gaped yesterday at a dwarf Aberdeen-Angus heifer weighing about 200 pounds and standing about 15 inches high.
The tiny beef animal, named "Shorty" by Maurice Meyer, a yards buyer, who bought the oddity to "keep around for a while."
The animal, consigned to the yards by Connie Hines of Sprague-ville, Ia., was termed by farm authorities a freak or "sport" and not the forerunner of a new type of cattle.

During the 16th Century, Poland extended from the Baltic to the Black Sea.

Agreement Is Endorsed
Canberra, March 6 (AP)—Parliamentary representatives of the Labor party today endorsed ratification of the Bretton Woods monetary agreement, thereby virtually assuring Australia's adherence to the pact.

Will Hold Meeting To Form Fire Co. At Olive Bridge

A meeting for the purpose of organizing a volunteer fire company to cover the areas of Olive Bridge, Brown Station, Krumville, Samsonville, Broadhead and The Vly will be held at I.O.O.F. Hall, Olive Bridge, on Wednesday evening, March 12, at 8 o'clock.

At that meeting all persons in the area who are interested in securing fire protection are invited to attend. There will be election of officers and memberships will be taken at the meeting. Anyone who resides in the area, whether they seek to join the organization at this time or not, are invited to attend the meeting and have the proposal explained.

Several preliminary discussions have been held and at a meeting held Tuesday evening at the home of Albert Fox at Olive Bridge, plans were discussed for the formation of a membership corporation to operate as a volunteer fire company in the area. Mr. Fox was named temporary chairman to serve until the meeting next Wednesday when officers will be selected and an organization effected.

Action in securing fire protection for the area has been prompted because of several disastrous fires which have taken place in the area during the past year. Residents of the area feel that a volunteer fire company located in the area, equipped with a suitable fire apparatus would afford adequate fire protection to the several hamlets in the area.

Curfew Is Imposed

New Delhi, March 6 (AP)—The All-India radio said in a Delhi broadcast today that a 24-hour curfew had been clamped on Lahore as a result of three new outbreaks of violence this morning in the Punjab capital, where communal rioting has cost at least 32 lives since Tuesday. The broadcast said rival "gangs" opened fire on each other in a Lahore suburb, causing five "casualties" and that police and the military cordoned off the area and dispersed the groups. The radio said police opened fire on two other occasions, also.

Congressmen Voice Hope For Truce on Criticism

Washington, March 6 (AP)—Hopes for a truce on congressional criticism of Russia during the Moscow foreign ministers conference were voiced today by both the Republican and Democratic floor leaders of the House.

Reps. Charles A. Halleck (R-Ind.), and Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.), used almost identical words in separate interviews calling upon members to cooperate with Secretary of State Marshall as much as possible.

"He has a difficult job under any conditions, and it is my personal hope that the members, both Democrats and Republicans, will not, by their words or actions, make his task more difficult," Halleck said.

Rayburn referred to Marshall's mission as "of the first importance" and said the secretary will face a "task that will be difficult at best."

"I therefore trust that neither by word nor deed we as members of the House of Representatives will make it any more difficult for him," the former speaker added.

Hat Check Girl Gives Tips on Anniversary

New York, March 6 (AP)—John Gielgud, the English actor, was only one of the patrons of Sardi's Restaurant who was surprised when the hat-check girl tipped him. That's right, tipped him.

"Is it the custom?" Gielgud asked.
Hat-check girl Renee Carroll then explained that yesterday ended her 20th year on the job and "I decided this was my day to tip the customers."

Renee handed out $50 in quarters, but there were compensations—like a $13 bottle of champagne from one customer and flowers from 10 others.

Baking Carnival

Carnival Marble Cake

MADE BY BETTY CROCKER

"Double-Quick" NEW METHOD

Cuts your mixing time 1/2;
No creaming... no egg beating

Have all ingredients room temperature (70° to 75°). (Shortening should be soft, not melted.) Preheat oven to 350° (moderate). Grease generously and dust with flour 2 round layer pans, 9-in. diameter, 1 1/2 in. deep, or 1 oblong pan, 9 x 13 x 2 in., or 1 square pan, 9 x 9 x 2 in. Sift GOLD MEDAL "Kitchen-tested" Flour before measuring. Measure all ingredients accurately (level) before starting to mix.

Sift together into bowl . . . 2 1/2 cups (2 cups plus 2 tbsp.) sifted GOLD MEDAL "Kitchen-tested" Flour
1 1/2 cups sugar
3/4 tsp. double-action baking powder
1 tsp. salt
Add . . . 1/2 cup high grade vegetable shortening
1 cup milk
1 tsp. flavoring

Beat vigorously with spoon for 2 minutes by clock (about 150 strokes per minute). You may rest a moment when beating by hand; just count actual beating time or strokes. Or mix with electric mixer on slow to medium speed for 2 minutes. Scrape sides and bottom of bowl frequently.

Add . . . 1/2 to 3/4 cup unbeaten egg whites (4 large)
Continue beating 2 more minutes, scraping bowl frequently. Pour about 2/3 of batter into prepared pan or pans.

To remaining batter add . . . 1 sq. unsweetened chocolate (1 oz.), melted, mixed with 1/4 tsp. soda
2 tbsp. warm water
1/4 tsp. red food coloring, if desired

Mix until well blended (about 1/2 minute). Pour chocolate batter here and there over white batter. Cut through batter several times with knife for marbled effect.

Bake layers 25 to 30 minutes; oblong cake 35 to 40 minutes; square cake 50 to 55 minutes in moderate oven (350°). (Square cakes often "crack.") Delicious uniced, warm from the oven... or frosted, when cool, with your favorite white icing.
*TO SAVE ON SUGAR: Use 1/4 cup white corn syrup and only 1/4 cup sugar. Reduce milk to 3/4 cup plus 1 tbsp. Add syrup with milk to dry ingredients.

If you live at an altitude over 3000 ft., write Betty Crocker, General Mills, Inc., Minneapolis 1, Minn., for recipe adjustments. Please specify recipes wanted.

After much pleading, little Jane had been allowed to sit at the dinner table with the guests on condition that she behave. No hitch occurred until the dessert was served, when, by some mischance, Jane's plate was overturned. Remembering her promise, she sat quietly for a while, until finally she inquired brightly, "Would any one care for a clean plate?"

Lewis Fines Upheld By Supreme Court In Surprise Move

Today's action caught all parties by surprise.

Justice Gives Opinion
Chief Justice Vinson delivered the opinion of the majority. Justices Murphy and Rutledge wrote dissenting opinions. Justice Frankfurter wrote a concurring opinion. Justices Black and Douglas each wrote an opinion in which they concurred in part and dissented in part.

The court majority ruled that neither the Norris-LaGuardia Act nor the War Labor Disputes Act barred the government from obtaining the injunction which resulted in the contempt proceedings.

It was this injunction that Lewis and the miners union were accused of flouting.

After the case had been appealed directly to the Supreme Court, Lewis suddenly ordered his miners back to work, on December 7. He said he wanted the Supreme Court freed of any public hysteria in weighing the issues.

Guilt of Criminal, Civil
Chief Justice Vinson in his opinion said that the trial court properly found the defendants in the Lewis case guilty of both criminal and civil contempt.

The majority specified that in cutting the union's fine to $700,000 it was doing so on this condition:

"The union must pay an additional fine of $2,800,000 unless it shows within five days after the Supreme Court issues its mandate that it has fully complied with the lower court's order."

"The defendant union," Chief Justice Vinson said, "can effect full compliance only by withdrawing unconditionally the notice given by it signed by John L. Lewis, to J. A. Krug, secretary of the interior, terminating the Krug-Lewis agreement as of midnight, November 20, and by notifying at the same time, its members of such withdrawal."

"We well realize," Vinson went on, "the serious proportions of the fines here imposed on the defendant union."

"But a majority feels that the course taken by the union carried with it such a serious threat to orderly constitutional government, and to the economic and social welfare of the nation that a fine of substantial size is required in order to emphasize the gravity of the offense of which the union was found guilty."

Was Aggressive Leader
"The defendant Lewis, it is true, was the aggressive leader in the studied and deliberate non-compliance with the order of the District Court; but as the record shows, he stated in open court prior to imposition of the fines that 'The representatives of the United Mine Workers determined that the so-called Krug-Lewis agreement was breached, and that it was the union's representatives' who 'notified the secretary of the interior that the contract was terminated as of November 20.' And certainly it was the members of the defendant union who executed the nationwide strike. Loyalty in responding to the orders of their leaders may, in some minds, minimize the gravity of the miners' conduct; but we can not ignore the effect of their action upon the rights of other citizens, or the effect of their action upon our system of government."

The chief justice asserted that "the gains, social and economic, which the miners and other citizens have realized in the past are ultimately due to the fact they enjoy the rights of free men under our system of government." "Upon the maintenance of that system," Vinson added, "depends all future progress to which they must justly aspire. In our complex society there is a great variety of limited liberties, but the overriding loyalty of all is to our country and to the institutions under which a particular interest may be pursued."

"We are aware," the chief justice said, "that the defendants may have sincerely believed that the restraining order was ineffective and would finally be vacated. However, the government had sought a declaration of its contractual rights under the Krug-Lewis agreement, effective since May, 1946, and solemnly subscribed by the government and defendant union."

"The restraining order sought to preserve conditions until the cause could be determined, and obedience by the defendants would have secured this result."

Had Chance to Comply
"They had full opportunity to comply with the order of the District Court, but they deliberately refused obedience and determined for themselves the validity of the order."

"Their (the union's and Lewis') conduct showed a total lack of respect for the judicial process. Punishment in this case is for that which the defendants had done prior to imposition of the judgment in the District Court, coupled with a coercive imposition upon the defendant union to the compel obedience with the court's outstanding order."

The majority said that other contentions advanced by Lewis and the union had been examined but the court majority had found them to be "without merit."

Commander Ernest A. Steuding wants Kingston Post substantially represented among the 4,000,000 members the American Legion hopes to sign up by the end of this year.

His membership committee, directed by Chairman James G. Connelly, is soliciting ex-servicemen and women of this area by letter to join the organization. "A personal visit to each veteran is made impossible due to their vast number, said Chairman Connelly.

Each letter is accompanied by an application blank which can be filled out and returned with a year's dues. There is no special initiation fee entailed. Legionnaires receive the organization's magazine free each month. Renovations are under way at the Memorial Building; it is being painted and refurnished. Besides card rooms, billiard room, showers and lounge, there will be a modern snack bar with a variety of refreshments.

In commenting on the drive for members, Chairman Connelly remarked, "Membership in the American Legion brings with it the association of yourself with other veterans devoted to mutual helpfulness, the promotion of comradeship and to the perpetuation of a 100 per cent Americanism."

"By the end of this year, the American Legion expects to have 4,000,000 members. No group or faction in America could stand up against the combined desires of a veterans organization of this size."

N. L. R. B. Chairman Attacks Wagner Act Changes, Fears Round of National Strikes

Washington, March 6 (AP)—The Chairman Paul M. Herzog of the National Labor Relations Board said today proposed changes in the Wagner Act would "put each individual employee at the mercy of his employer."

But the U. S. Chamber of Commerce declared that "employers cannot rest easy" until Congress rewrites parts of the law to wipe out any questions of its intent.

The divergent views were prepared for Senate and House Labor Committees, both of which are considering amendments to the basic Labor Relations Act, along with other measures designed to reduce industrial strife.

Herzog, whose job is to help administer the Wagner Act, said the strike wave might materialize if all provisions of pending over-haul bills were adopted, even though no strike could be lawful under one of them once an employer had made it this way to work off.

The N. L. R. B. put it this way in his statement submitted to the Senate committee:

"At best, several years of uncertainty would flow from enactment of many of the proposals that amend the act."

"At worst, American workingmen and their representatives would so resent the destruction of rights they have so recently won that work stoppages would sweep the country."

C. of C. Stand Given
The Chamber of Commerce stand was outlined for the House Committee by Herman W. Steinkraus, chairman of the business organization's Labor Relations Committee.

The testimony said "vast areas" of the Wagner Act have been left interpretation by Herzog's board.

Because of "shifts in the board's policies," he said, "the employer has never known when a long-established administrative ruling would suddenly be changed with new and unforeseen results."

Raymond S. Smith, counsel for the National Association of Manufacturers, told the Senate committee yesterday pending bills to change the act have prompted several recent reversals of N. L. R. B. policies. He urged Congress to take any note of this situation, saying the trend has been to write into N. L. R. B. decisions principles which some Congress members want to put into law.

Herzog said these amendments to the Wagner Act would "put each individual employee at the mercy of his employer."

1. Making strikes illegal when called "to remedy practices for which an administrative remedy (appeal to the N. L. R. B.) is available." Herzog contended this asks workers "to drop their guard completely and rely upon the slow and frequently uncertain remedies provided by the board."

2. Allowing employers to fire strikers when they reject a back-to-work offer.

3. Outlawing of jurisdictional strikes, precipitated by disputes over which union should do certain work.

4. Prohibiting strikes by a union which has not been certified as bargaining agency by the N. L. R. B.

5. Repealing workers of the collective bargaining rights if they struck during a 60-day cooling off period.

Herzog said this type of legislation "perhaps would bring about peace, through fear, in some situations, but peace at a price that Congress surely does not want to pay."

6. American workers to have to pay.

Herzog did suggest two changes in the act.

One would prohibit strikes "which undermine the board's own certification." These would be designated an unfair labor practice.

The other change would allow workers to re-select their union when a contract was about to expire, "without fear of discharge under a closed shop provision in the existing agreement."

Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach was scheduled to follow Herzog to the stand later in the day.

Steinkraus said at the House hearing that one example of uncertainty in the Wagner Act concerns the issue of free speech by employers.

Because of "shifts in the board's policies," he said, "the employer has never known when a long-established administrative ruling would suddenly be changed with new and unforeseen results."

Battle Is Shaping Over Young-Demo Bill on Rebates

Albany, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—Battle lines formed in the Legislature today for a fight over the Young-Demo bill which would enable the state to grant employers about $125,000,000 in unemployment insurance tax rebates this year.

The controversial measure, supported by business interests and opposed by organized labor, was reported out of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee yesterday for a floor vote.

The committee action came on party lines with the Democratic minority objecting.

Employer rebates in the form of tax credits, have totaled $156,000,000 the last two years. But there will be none this year unless the Legislature approves the Young-Demo bill or similar specific legislation affecting the unemployment insurance reserve fund requirements.

Some political observers expect the Republican-controlled Legislature to approve a compromise version of the bill.

The Legislature continued to pass non-controversial legislation today, but it is expected that the Young-Demo bill will be a major item on the agenda.

The Senate and Assembly passed 126 measures yesterday, raising their three-day total to 420.

Introduction of a dozen bills today boosted the session total to 5,224, topping the previous record of 5,211 established last year.

The Assembly Ways and Means Committee, meanwhile, killed a bill sponsored by Assemblyman Robert J. Crews, Brooklyn Republican, that would have authorized the Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority to have constructed a $20,000,000 sports arena and exposition hall with a bus and parking terminal at Columbus Circle in New York City.

It would have been leased to the Madison Square Garden Corporation.

Paris Father Knew Of Bribe Attempts

of $2,500 plus $1,000 bets in their names, they and Paris testified.

The three now on trial on bribery and conspiracy indictments are Jerome Zarowitz, 32, and Harvey Stemmer, 36, who, the State contends, "counseled and commanded" Paris. Stemmer is in jail in connection with efforts to bribe Brooklyn College basketball players.

The State said Paris testified that Stemmer visited his motel goods office three or four times in November and December while he was serving time at Rikers Island penitentiary.

Meanwhile, Ida McGuire, 23, pretty Hollywood bit player said, by the younger Paris to have organized a cocktail party he gave the two giant players, waited to take the stand.

Night club jaunts and parties attended by "business girls" he invited had been mentioned in Paris' direct testimony, by which the State had sought to link the three defendants with the bribe attempt.

Under defense questioning, Paris admitted he lied in a signed statement made the day of his arrest, Dec. 15, to "protect a lot of people."

He said he then claimed the bribe attempt was his own idea because "I didn't think the crime was as serious as it turned out to be."

Asked whom he was protecting, Paris replied: "Hapes, Filchuck and some girls."

Leases and final instructions on conditions governing occupancy of the apartments. Many in the group said they would start setting up their new homes this afternoon.

Completion of the 52-family emergency housing project is not expected until June. The project was built under Governor Thomas E. Dewey's $85,000,000 program to construct emergency housing and educational facilities for veterans in this state.

The Kingston housing development was constructed by local labor under the supervision of the State Department of Public Works. The temporary development consists of 2, 3 and 4-room apartments in remodeled military buildings disassembled at the grounds of the Rockland State Hospital and Camp Shanks, transported in sections to Kingston and rebuilt on the site. The State Division of Housing planned the project and will supervise its operation.

The project was designed by Albert E. Milken, local architect and Slover, Jansen and Schlune were the contractors.

Latterday Saints Missionaries a Rotary

Four missionaries of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latterday Saints, commonly called Mormons, who are in this city were guests of the Rotary Club Wednesday.

Presented by Bert Tand, the missionaries explained their religious body, their doctrines, practices, ceremonies and church government.

The Book of Mormon, one of the authoritative writings of the church is the record of certain ancient peoples in America written on golden plates and discovered by Joseph Smith in Western New York and translated by him in 1830 when the church was founded.

Attend Sales Meeting

S. H. Brown of the Hudson Valley Service Corporation in Kingston has returned from an executives' sales meeting in New York. The sessions, which were attended by more than 100 distributors of Cities Service Oil products in 13 Northeastern states, were held last week-end at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

During the meetings, officials outlined advertising, merchandising and training plans for the coming year; a continuing program of extra services for the motorists was stressed. A motion picture shown which dramatized modern merchandising and service station and pointed out the advantages to dealers of hiring ex-G.I.'s as station help.

Mr. Brown said the pattern of international trade most conducive to freedom of enterprise is one in which the major decisions are made not by governments but by "private buyers and sellers, under conditions of active competition, and with proper safeguards against the establishment of monopolies and cartels."

He described the opposite pattern as one where governments make the decisions, with public officials dictating the quantity of purchases and sales, sources of imports and destination of exports.

"This was the pattern of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries," the President said. "Unless we act, and act decisively, it will be the pattern of the next century."

Everywhere on earth, he went on, nations are under "economic pressure," with a tendency toward rigid control of imports.

"If this trend is not reversed," he said, "the government of the United States will be under pressure, sooner or later, to use these same devices in the fight for markets and for raw materials. And if the government were to yield to this pressure, it would shortly find itself in the business of allocating foreign goods among importers and foreign markets among exporters and telling every trader what he could buy or sell, and how much, and when, and where."

"This is precisely what we have been trying to get away from as rapidly as possible, ever since the war. It is not the American way. It is not the way to peace."

Bread Ration Reduced

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, March 6 (AP)—Premier Marshal Tito's government reduced the Yugoslav bread ration 150 grams a month (5.3 ounces) today in the second cut within 30 days.

to our course. We must not go through the 'thirties again.' Calls It 'Settled Policy'

He said reduction of trade barriers is a "settled policy" of this government, one of the "cornerstones of our plans for peace," and "a policy from which we cannot—and must not—turn aside."

"Those among us—and there are still a few—who would seek to undermine this policy for partisan advantage and go back to the period of high tariffs and economic isolation," he continued, "I can say only this:

"The careful Times have changed. Our position in the world has changed. The slogans of 1930 or of 1896 are sadly out of date. Isolationism, after two world wars, is a confession of mental and moral bankruptcy."

As for bi-partisan cooperation, he said:

"Happily, our foreign economic policy does not now rest upon a base of narrow partisanship. Leaders in both parties have expressed their faith in its essential purposes. Here, as elsewhere in our foreign relations I shall welcome a continuation of bi-partisan support."

"Our people are united. They have come to a realization of their responsibilities. They are ready to assume their role of leadership. They are determined upon an international order in which peace and freedom shall endure."

Roxas Says No Small Nation Is Independent

Manila, March 6 (AP)—President Roxas, in a final radio appeal for approval of a constitutional amendment giving parity rights to Americans, declared today that in a world far from stabilized, no small nation was without its special ties with a greater power.

"Do we prefer to establish special ties with China, with Russia or France?" he asked. "I do not think so. History has made our decision for us and for this we must be fervently grateful."

Philippines will vote March 11 on the proposed amendment to give Americans equal rights with Philippine nationals in the republic's economic development.

'Bride' Orders $80 Cake
Leaves Baker in Distress

Pittsburgh, March 6 (AP)—Ralph Moio has an eighty-dollar wedding cake which is begging for a wedding.

Moio, owner of a small Italian pastry shop, explained that a "very pretty brunette" posing as a prospective bride ordered the cake six days ago. But, he related today with great melancholy, she failed to call for it and her address is fictitious.

What's tough is the cake contains 110 pounds of hard-to-get mixed fruits, rum, butter cream, sugar and shortening—all covered with small, silver balls imbedded in thick, fancy, white icing.

But Moio is an altruist. He offered the cake free today to anyone who can use it for a wedding. It must be a big wedding, he emphasized—a wedding worthy of the cake.

Someone has two weeks to get it. The cake will keep fresh that long, he said.

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

CAN SOMETHING OLD BE REAL PRESENT?

A letter asks: "Is something that is not new ever to be regarded as a real present? My husband is expert at cabinet-making, although it is not his vocation. He has repaired and rebuilt much furniture used by our children when they were younger. We intended to give this to my sister for her children. He wanted to give it as their Christmas present, whereas I felt its not being new made it unsuitable for any special occasion."

If it looks shabby, you are right. But you are wrong if the furniture is as serviceable and good-looking as when it was new.

Marrying Out of Her Faith

Dear Mrs. Post: My father does not approve of my marriage because I am marrying out of our faith. Accordingly, we will have to get married in a hotel. Since we are not choosing a big room, there won't be space to invite any but the immediate families who I am planning to ask verbally. Who should give me away, since my father refuses even to be present? Also, how should the announcements be worded?

Answer: The nearest male member of your family, next to your father, should serve in your father's place. If, as is probable, your father refuses to have his name appear on the announcements, the best plan will be to send them in your own names. For example, "Miss Mary Smith and Mr. John Jones have the honor to announce their marriage, etc."

Ex or Not Ex

Dear Mrs. Post: Isn't a deceased brother's widow always to be looked upon as a sister-in-law? In this instance, she is married again but we are friendly with her and her husband and there is a child of my brother's. I have been told I am wrong in referring to her as my sister-in-law.

Answer: Some people do say "ex" sister-in-law, but this is omitted where affection has remained. In other words, its retention is a matter of personal feeling rather than of rule.

Do you know your ABC's in manners? Send for Mrs. Post's leaflet, "An Etiquette Test," obtainable for 5 cents in coin and a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 99, Station New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

Sabbath Seeks Answer To High Living Costs

Washington, March 6 (AP) — Rep. Sabbath (D-Ill.), asked the House today to order its agriculture committee to "find out what has made the prices of cost-of-living items jump more than fifty per cent in six months."

In a statement accompanying a resolution requesting the investigation, the dean of the House said "prices are still rising" and "a new propaganda war is underway, against consumers, to kill the last remaining controls on rents, sugar and rice."

"This Republican Congress is filled with pity for the poor little rich boys with their hands in the consumers' pockets," he said. "Crocodile tears wash away campaign promises."

Hamilton, Bermuda, March 5 (AP)—Governor Sir Ralph Leatham has been asked by the House of Assembly to seek assurance from the British government that it is not negotiating to sell this island colony to the United States.

The message was sent to the Governor after a two-hour debate yesterday, launched by members who said they had heard rumors that the sale of Bermuda was being considered.

The debate diverged into a demand by Ernest Vesey, independent member, for greater self-government for Bermuda.

O.P.A. Would End June 30 Under Decision of Senate

with a stipulation that no more would be forthcoming for liquidation purposes after June 30.

During the often heated debate on this "rider," Democratic Senators Lucas (Ill.), O'Mahoney (Wyo.), Hill (Ala.), and Taylor (Idaho), accused the Republicans of trying to scuttle all price and rent controls before Congress could decide upon a definite policy.

Lucas said the Republicans want to see "O.P.A. out of business and a complete, cold breakdown in rent control."

Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Republican policy committee, replied that even if O.P.A. should have to go out of business April 30, Congress would have time to enact new legislation dealing with rents, sugar and other matters.

One pending bill would extend rent control until December 31, leaving administration either to the states or federal courts. Another would shift sugar and rice controls to the Agriculture Department.

The appropriation bill itself

passed on a voice vote. The only recorded test was a roll call on the rider. It was upheld 58 to 29. Eleven Democrats joined with 47 Republicans to end the agency June 30; 28 Democrats and one Republican, Aiken, Vermont, answered no.

The $182,000,000 bill as it passed the Senate was $40,000,000 above the House figure. The Veterans Administration would get $165,000,000 of the total, $30,000,000 more than the house specified for that agency.

ing to starting automatic increments July 1, 1948, instead of next July 1. They are objecting also to a provision for merit increments contending this would lead to abuses.

The Condon-Wadlin bill was introduced a few days before 2,400 Buffalo teachers started a week-long strike for higher salaries.

In its original form the measure provided that in addition to the usual penalties prescribed in the civil service law for neglect of duty, strikers be reduced one salary grade and given no raise for three years.

Excuse Selves

Sponsors of the bill, Senator William F. Condon of Yonkers and Assemblyman John F. Wadlin of Ulster, both Republicans, said in a statement that the measure as amended was "the product of the work of many municipal and state officials who believe it is necessary to restate the fundamental principle which has long been the law of New York that no public employee has a right to strike."

Announcement of the board's action against Cunningham stirred a "walkout" of 200 pupils at the high school Feb. 26. The pupils left the school and marched through the streets of the village with banners asking that their principal be returned. They reported back to classes late in the morning, however, after deciding to carry on their campaign through petition.

A spokesman for the pupils said, following the demonstration, that further reaction of the student body could be expected if the board fails to take satisfactory action on the petition.

Stanton testified yesterday afternoon that a "slut" made by him and read at his Federal Court trial was made under threats and was not made voluntarily.

In the statement, read to the jury Monday Stanton said that he received $200 from Foman.

Stanton testified late yesterday that he was brought to New York city June 6, 1945 from a federal correction institution at Danbury, Conn. where he was serving a two-year sentence for selling gasoline ration coupons.

Danbury to a distant institution. "Is the matter in the statement true?" asked Defense Attorney Francis Matocci.

"No, sir," Stanton replied, saying that he would have made "any sort of statement" to prevent his transfer from Danbury.

Paul Simpson, Cleveland, Signed to Box Jimmy Carr Tonight

Change in Program Due to A.A. Ruling On Gotham Boxers

Witt Little, Mid-Western Bantam King, Replaces Delgado as Virgilio's Foe; First at 9 P.M.

One of the best exhibitions of hard punching is scheduled for presentation on B'nai B'rith boxing card in the municipal auditorium tonight, featuring Paul Simpson, Cleveland's three-time Golden Gloves champion and Jimmy Carr, Albany light-heavyweight, whose prospects of attaining the heights in the squared circle are very promising.

Simpson knocked out Buffalo's Chick Cammota in the fourth round of an outdoor bout at the stadium last July, and Carr gave a real demonstration of dynamic punching two weeks ago by stopping Bob Yardboro of Rome at the auditorium. Carr is regarded as one of the best light-heavyweights in New York state because of his boxing skill and power punching. He won the service tournament at Pearl Harbor, representing the colored marines.

This last-minute match is the result of a Metropolitan A.A.U. ruling against New York city fighters traveling out of their district during Golden Gloves competition. Tonight's fight program had to be re-arranged, replacing three New Yorkers—Tony Delgado, John Chaney and Jimmy Davis.

Witt Little, staminate of Simpson, and Golden Gloves bantamweight champion in the mid-west, will replace Tony Delgado as the opponent for Carmine Virgilio, Poughkeepsie's uncrowned 118-pound king in the Hudson valley.

Tonight's card as it stands after changes:

Carmine Virgilio, Poughkeepsie bantamweight vs. Witt Little, Cleveland Golden Gloves champion.

Al Hurlbut, Rome knockout puncher vs. Jimmy "Cowboy" Brightwell, Oklahoma middleweight Golden Gloves champion.

Paul Simpson, three-time Golden Gloves winner in Cleveland vs. Jimmy Carr, Albany light-heavyweight, Pearl Harbor champion and knockout victor over Bob Yardboro of Rome on the last card.

Frankie Thompson, Newburgh middleweight vs. Dom Sciacca, Rome.

Three Rounders

Jasper Jones, Kingston High School featherweight vs. Johnny Joyce, Albany.

Tommy "Tiger" Davis, Kingston middleweight vs. Jim Lenny, Troy.

Dave Brandon, Kingston middleweight vs. Freeman Hurlbut, Rome.

The revamped card was announced late last night by Dr. Saul Goldfarb, who was unaware of the ultimatum on New York

Boxes Tonight

Paul Simpson, Cleveland Golden Gloves winner three consecutive years, is scheduled to box Jimmy Carr, Albany light-heavyweight, in one of the five round featured bouts on B'nai B'rith card in the municipal auditorium tonight. Last July, the midwestern kayo puncher polished off Chick Cammota of Buffalo in the fourth round at an outdoor show here. Carr knocked out Bob Yardboro of Buffalo on the last auditorium card.

boxers staying at home, until he received a belated communique. After procuring Simpson and Little through Ben M. Becker, director of bouts, the B'nai B'rith boxing chairman was relieved of a lot of strain. "Now that we've got these boys, none of the gloss is lost from the program," he remarked.

Delgado, a Puerto Rican, who was matched with Virgilio, is a New York resident now, as is Jimmy Davis, who moved in from Montreal, Canada. He was paired with Jimmy Carr.

Simpson and Little are every bit as good as Delgado and Davis. The Doc opined, and the fans should see a lot of real action when they start punching. Judges listed for tonight are District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn and Police Chief Ernest A. Boss, both of whom accepted invitations from B'nai B'rith to lend their aid in putting on first-rate boxing attractions at the auditorium.

Reports from Dr. Murray Greene, ticket chairman, indicates a full house tonight.

Williams to Turn Pro

Gainesville, Fla., March 6 (AP)—Broughton (Brute) Williams, the University of Florida's great pass-catching end, will give up two more years of college football to join professional ranks next season. Williams, a war veteran, said last night he had signed a contract with the Chicago Bears but declined to elaborate on the terms other than that "the Bears offered me a good financial deal."

Syracuse Wins 18th

Syracuse, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—Syracuse University's basketball team has its 18th victory in 23 games today, but the Orangemen had to come from behind in the last few minutes to down a fighting Niagara University quintet here last night. The Orange emerged with a 59-57 victory, after losing a half-time lead of 17 points.

Yale, Harvard to Race

New Haven, Conn., March 6 (AP)—The oldest intercollegiate sports rivalry in history, temporarily halted by the war, will be resumed at New London June 18 when the crews of Yale and Harvard race over a four-mile course on the Thames river, scene of most of their contests during the past 95 years.

In The Pocket

with CHARLIE TIANO

THE STORMY PETREL RETURNS: This is another night of unusual civic commotion . . . Carmine Virgilio, Poughkeepsie's stormy petrel of amateur boxing, returns to the municipal auditorium as special guest of B'nai B'rith . . . So far as we have been able to learn, Dr. Saul Goldfarb has not arranged for any special ceremonies or a reception committee . . . Chances are Virgilio will come in by way of a side door, slip into the basement, and then wait until it is time to come out and face his friends and neighbors . . . His friends and neighbors being some 2,000 cauliflower addicts who will be waiting to see Carmine's well-matted cranium knocked for a loop. The real cuties on the card are Al Hurlbut, Rome middleweight and Jimmy Carr, tan light-heavyweight sensation from Albany.

It's now Police Chief Ernest McBoss . . . The appellation holds good until 12 midnight on March 25, when the Elks Club presents "Irish Night" . . . The chief says the usual excellent beef dinner will be served on green colored plates, but he guarantees nothing in the way of entertainment except at least four fights. . . . Rod Sagendorf and George "Zeke" Zelle, two former Kingston High School basketball greats, currently the sparkplugs of Hartwick College, watching their alma mater roll over Newburgh . . . Jake Senor in his downtown beauty parlor selling about plans to make a Kingston team to the annual bowling tournament sponsored by the Knights of Columbus . . . Dot Flemings pretty tough rolling for a dollar—226—and we paid . . . Primo Carnera just sat on Milo Steinborn in the feature wrestling bout in Newburgh Monday—and that ended that . . . Marge Jansen, our best copy critic, was horrified when we used the word horrendous . . . Said there was no such word, but there is.

OF MEN AND MICE: Two members of the fabulous Faber Cement Blocks of Teaneck, N. J., rank one-two in the national individual standings, Eddie Gass with 834 via 266-279 and 289 and Cec Hart with 814 . . . Fabers recently pounded 3472 on the 3 and 4 drives at Phelps Manor in Teaneck . . . Don Hempe, one of Poughkeepsie High School's all-time baseball greats, should do well with the Lynx, club of the New England League . . . In The Good Neighbor League last week, Larry "The Cantor" Jacobs repped 212 and 568, while Dr. Murray Greene forgot the ticket sales for B'nai B'rith boxing shows long enough to pound out a 232 solo . . . Larry Weishaupt cracked 640 in the Midnite loop.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM

Art Davis, who would rather talk about his golf score, reeled off 203-221 on the Y-planks, while Harry Pierce shattered the stillness of the Nockando League with a rousing 262 single . . . C. Darius posted 204-223-612, while Electro League highlights included George Castor 227-556, Ed Cunningham 232, and Tony La Rocca 208-205-594 . . . Jones Dairy No. 1's $159 blast on alleys 5 and 6 should take care of the skeptics and wise guys who think they can pound only 7 and 8 . . . The one-pan loss by Jones Dairy to the Newburgh Paladins Sunday in the Hill City cost the locals exactly three games . . . It was the first kalsomine job perpetrated against the league leaders . . . There is nothing fearsome about those 9 and 10 lanes at the Empire Recreation in Newburgh . . . We'll take them—anytime.

THE POWDER BOX: The 30th annual Women's International Bowling Congress tournament will open on April 10 at the 18-lane Fanatorium Recreation in Grand Rapids . . . The defending champions are the Silver Seal Sodas of St. Louis who copied the 1946 title with 2721 . . . Catherine Felmeth, back in the second half of the all-time W.I.B.C. singles high is 712 set by Marie Clemensen of Indianapolis . . . Mrs. Mikiel this year owns the second highest mark made in the country, 709, and has the nation's third highest average 191 . . . She is the Central States all-time champion, shooting 1848 in the recent tourney in Cleveland . . . Val is currently a member of the Lustré Creme Shampoo five of Detroit.

ANENT QUOTES: From the "National Kegler" issue of March, George Burton, of Long Island, is quoted to wit: "After holding her rival to a 2-pin lead at Kingston, Jean 'Mickey' Michaels, New York state singles and all-events queen, there New York City, came up with a back back in the second half of a home-and-home and lost by more than 200 sticks to Rose Schatzel, who averaged 194 for 20 games . . . Miss Michaels is looking for a return clash this month." End of quote . . . Funny we haven't heard anything about this return match.

YOU KNOW HIM, AL—The team captain who brags about the big sponsor he's getting for next year and then shows up without a shirt on opening night.

Tickets for DUSO Playoff Available At Kingston High

200 Extra Pasteboards Received; Sale Ends Friday; Four Buses May Make Trip

The advanced sale of tickets for the Kingston-Liberty playoff game in Middletown Saturday night will close Friday, Ray Woodward, chairman of the ticket committee announced today.

The first allotment of 200 tickets has been issued, Mr. Woodward commented, but approximately 200 additional pasteboards have been received from authorities in Middletown for the championship contest. These will be on sale all day today and Friday at the high school.

Although some tickets will be available at the door in Middletown Saturday evening, G. Warren Kias, K.H.S. athletic director, advised fans to procure their tickets here. "There will be a few on sale at the door," Mr. Kias said, "but in order to avoid disappointment, it would be advisable for local fans to obtain their pasteboards at the local high school today or Friday."

Three buses already have been filled and school authorities expect that at least one more will be reserved prior to Saturday.

Saturday's contest in Middletown will start at 7:30 o'clock.

Mauer to Coach Army

West Point, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—Johnny Mauer, whose won-lost average for eight years as Tennessee basketball coach was .750, is Army's new game mentor, succeeding Stuart K. Holcomb, who next week will assume his new job as head football coach at Purdue.

Mauer's appointment was announced yesterday by Col. Lawrence McC. (Biff) Jones, graduate manager of athletics at the military academy. Like Holcomb, Mauer will also be a member of Earl Blaik's football staff, Jones said.

Dodgers Even Series

Caracas, Venezuela, March 6 (AP)—The Dodgers evened their series with the New York Yankees at one game apiece last night when they came from behind with five runs in the ninth to defeat the American Leaguers 8-7. Pee Wee Reese's triple and Gene Hermanski's double, both off pitcher Alie Reynolds, recently acquired from Cleveland in a trade which sent Joe Gordon to the Tribe.

McNeely Has 679

New York, March 6 (AP)—Cliff McNeely, of Texas Wesleyan, has surpassed Bob Kurland's 643 points that won the Oklahoma Aggie last year's national collegiate individual high scoring basketball crown. McNeely now boasts 679 points and goes after the 700-point mark in the N.A.I.B. tourney that opens Monday in Kansas City. Jim Lacy, of Baltimore Loyola, who several weeks ago was only 29 points behind the southwest star, now is far in the rear with 578 points and apparently had little chance of catching up.

Mort Kaplan, Monticello forward, placed third with 110. Burt Halprin, Monticello, was third with 107 and Charlie "Red" Midway, Middletown, finished fifth with 104. Agreement Gives Poland Benefits*Seven Points Are Covered in Deal With Reds After Conference

Moscow, March 6 (AP)—A new Polish-Soviet agreement—reported to provide for numerous apparent economic benefits to Poland and to express a unity of opinion on the German question—dominated the press of the Soviet Union today.

Newspapers reported that among the things the young Polish republic would receive were:

- (1) A Russian loan of $28,855,000 in gold.
- (2) Reduction by half the coal supplies due Russia from Poland.
- (3) Trains which the Soviets seized as war booty from Germany.
- (4) An arrangement on "mutual financial obligations."
- (5) Establishment of "scientific and technical collaboration" in the field of industrial production.

(6) Armaments and military equipment as a credit from the Soviet Union.

(7) A part of the German merchant fleet "due Poland" to be handed over by May 15, 1947.

"There also was an exchange of opinions on the German question which revealed the principle of harmony in the standpoints of both governments," said a communiqué.

The discussions from the Russian side were reported to have been conducted by Prime Minister Stalin with the assistance of Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, Minister of Foreign Trade A. I. Mikoyan, Finance Minister A. G. Zverev and Deputy Foreign Minister A. Y. Vishinsky.

Representing Poland were Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz, Minister of Industry Hilary Minc and others.

The Polish premier spent nine days in the Soviet capital.

25 Are Arrested As Terrorists in Palestine Areas

Jerusalem, March 6 (AP)—An official announcement today said 25 "known terrorists" had been arrested in Palestine during the last few days.

The announcement said the 25 were "understood to include members of the Stern gang and Irgun Zvai Leumi," both of which are Jewish underground organizations.

South of Haifa, police dogs were put on the bloody trail of persons who attacked an army camp near Hadara this morning, wounding three British soldiers, slightly.

Two of the attackers were believed to have been wounded in the fray, in which small arms fire and mortars were used. Six homemade grenades were found near the scene.

Violence in the strife-torn Holy Land claimed another victim last night when a private car struck a road mine at Rehovot, killing the Jewish driver and injuring his Jewish passenger.

In Jerusalem, unidentified persons hurled grenades at two military vehicles, wounding a British lance corporal and a Palestine constable. A bomb blast wrecked the government assessment office in Haifa, but there were no casualties.

British troops searching for the perpetrators of these attacks lighted the night skies over Jerusalem with red and green flares and there were intermittent sounds of gunfire as a guard post in the British security zone repulsed a light attack.

Reader Service*Nibble If You Must

The first hundred hours are the hardest in any diet. By the time Friday rolls around, however, you'll be so used to the new scheme of things you'll barely give the old eating habits a backward glance.

The habit that most women have most trouble breaking is nibbling between meals. If that's your problem, make it a practice to save your mealtime beverage, or a minor course, for when your will is weakest. Or if you take coffee and tea plain, drink a cup whenever you like without fear of adding calories.

Our 14-day diet takes into account this fondness for between-meal snacks. Every morning at 10:30 you are allowed one of these drinks: broth, tea with one spoon sugar, half cup whole milk, glass of skim milk or buttermilk. Your bedtime beverage is: glass skim milk or buttermilk, glass of foamy milk shake (special recipe). This is all figured in your daily allotment of under 1200 calories.

Also included in our helpful Reader Service booklet No. 46 are caloric charts, recipes, liquid diet, reducing rules.

Security Council Studies Russian Refusal to Open Frontiers for Inspection

Lake Success, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—Pessimistic Security Council delegates, groping for a solution to global control of atomic energy, pondered today a Russian assertion that Soviet frontiers never would be thrown open to unlimited international inspection nor Soviet factories allowed to operate under United Nations control.

Andre A. Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister, made these points clear in a major policy speech, devoted principally to an outspoken attack on the American control plan.

Gromyko said the United States proposals, already accepted by all members of the 12-nation Atomic Energy Commission except Russia and Poland, were contrary to the basic economic and national interests of other nations and "directed against the independence of other states."

The Russian delegate insisted that he was in favor of strict and effective international control, but not on the broad terms laid down by the United States. While repeatedly assailing the American provisions in a 78-minute speech, Gromyko did not state how far his country was willing to go toward "strict" control.

The United States wants an atomic development authority with full powers of inspection and control of atomic matters everywhere.

Delegates generally reserved immediate comment pending a study of the text, but it was apparent that many envisioned major difficulty in clearing up the inspection-control problem in the face of the Russian stand.

Significance Is Considered

Coming almost on the eve of the Moscow conference, the speech was viewed as specially significant.

Unlimited control would mean an unlimited interference of the control and controlling organs in the economic life of the countries on whose territory this control will be carried out, and interference in their internal affairs," Gromyko said.

"Strict regulation of powers and duties of a control organ should exclude the unlimited access for inspection purposes to all equipment and operations and should also exclude granting to inspection the right to shut down plants, to interfere with normal mining and milling operations and granting it the right of giving so-called licenses."

Gromyko declared that "granting an international control organ the right to possess establishments for the production of atomic energy and unlimited power to carry out other important functions connected with the ownership and management of the establishments would lead to interference in internal affairs." He said that granting such powers was "incompatible with veto were the United States and Great Britain."

Gromyko's speech took up the entire session and no action was taken on an American proposal to refer the atomic issue back to the commission with instructions to try again for a solution.

Sitting behind American Delegate Warren R. Austin as Gromyko delivered his long speech in English was Frederick H. Osborn, New York businessman and former army major general, who was named yesterday as United States deputy on the Atomic Commission.

The Council will take up the atomic problem again Monday when Austin is expected to answer Gromyko. Meanwhile, delegates will convene Friday to continue debate on the American request for trusteeship over Japanese mandated islands in the Pacific.

Sparkman Offers Compromise Proposal

Washington, March 6 (AP)—Senator Sparkman (D-Ala.), today offered the Senate banking committee a compromise proposal to continue rent controls until June 30, 1948, with no across the board increase in ceilings.

Sparkman told a reporter he believes the other five Democrats on the 13-man group will support him and "if we get one Republican we will have a majority."

This would head off a subcommittee measure—retaining controls only until next December 31 and allowing a flat 10 per cent increase—which comes up before the full committee today.

Chairman Tobey (R-N.H.), disclosed that he does not agree "in principle" with the subcommittee's bill.

He suggested that some federal agency continue to administer rents under a mandate to act quickly on legitimate landlord "hardship cases."

The subcommittee bill would take rent out of O.P.A.'s hands at once and put enforcement into the courts.

Phone Strike Toll
Reaches 62,000 as
3 More Unions File

New York, March 6 (AP)—Filing of 30-day strike notices by three independent unions brought to nearly 62,000 the number of telephone workers in the New York metropolitan area who have made legal preparations to join a nationwide strike threatened for April 7 by the National Federation of Telephone Workers.

Mrs. Marion L. Horn, president of the United Communications organizations, said its three member unions that submitted strike notices in conformity with the

Smith-Connally Act yesterday were:

The Traffic Employees Union, representing 17,500 local operators employed by the New York Telephone Company in New York city; Nassau, Suffolk, Westchester and Rockland counties, and Greenwich, Conn. It includes 1,000 dining service and clerical employees, she said.

The Union of Telephone Workers, with 3,200 members in the company's commercial department.

The Telephone Employees Organization, with 3,000 accounting department workers.

What Operators Want

Mrs. Horn said the local operators seek a $12 weekly pay increase and the accounting and commercial employees $15. Mrs. Horn said present salaries in the U.C.O. unions range from about $23 to $44 a week, with some commercial department workers receiving as much as $80.

Traffic employees on the day shift seek a seven-hour day and 35-hour week, Mrs. Horn said.

Strike notices previously had been filed by the United Telephone Organizations, with about 12,000 plant and maintenance workers in this area; the American Union of Telephone Workers, with 8,000 long distance workers in this area and 12,000 elsewhere in the country; and the Western Electric Employees Association, with 18,000 members in Western Electric plants in New York and northern New Jersey. The last two groups are affiliates of the National Federation of Telephone Workers.

Failure to Cash
$200,000 in Checks
Reveals 'Privacy'

New York, March 6 (AP)—Miss Mary B. Powers, elderly resident of the Hotel Seymour, has achieved privacy in mid-Manhattan rivaling that of Ida Walsli Wood, Civil War belle who died in the Herald Square Hotel in 1932 after a half-century of seclusion.

Miss Powers' name figured in a court action this week at Scranton, Pa. The Glen Alden Coal Company disclosed that $25,000 in dividend checks sent Miss Powers during the past eight years had gone uncashed and the state of Pennsylvania asked the court to place the money in escrow for possible escheat to the state.

The checks were addressed to "Mary B. Powers, executrix of the Caroline Powers Estate."

Ralph P. Lohak, manager of the Hotel Seymour, said that Miss Powers had not left her suite in the four years he had been manager. He, a doctor, a waiter and agents of the Fifth Avenue Bank of New York are the only persons she admits to the suite, Lohak said.

As for the bank's knowledge of the story of Miss Powers' seclusion, Edward Streeter, a vice president, told a reporter:

"We don't mean to appear stuffy, but there is only one thing we can say and that is that we cannot possibly give any information."

Lohak said he collects the rent quarterly, the doctor sees Miss Powers once a year, and once a day a waiter brings food and is tipped liberally. She does her own washing and dusting.

Miss Powers has lived at the hotel at least 15 years.

Veterans Want Three
Housing Points Retained

Washington, March 6 (AP)—Ray Sawyer, national commander of the American Veterans of World War 2, said today his organization wants the government to maintain three of the nine regulations in the Veterans Housing Program.

He told reporters he would urge Housing Expediter Frank R. Creedon to keep the $50,000,000 weekly limitation on non-housing construction; the limit of 1,500 square feet of floor space for new dwellings; and veterans preference for purchase or rental of new housing.

Bacitracin Is Used
Successfully to Treat Infections

Chicago, March 6 (AP)—A new germ-killing chemical agent called bacitracin, developed after nearly four years of research, was reported today to have been used successfully in treatment of infections and so powerful that out of 100 patients on whom it was tried 62 were saved from surgery.

Among the infections successfully treated by bacitracin, said the physicians who developed the antibiotic, were boils, carbuncles, sties and ulcers. They reported results were "so speedy they surprised both the patient and the physician. Use of the germ-killer either obviated surgery or speeded recovery after surgery, they said.

Bacitracin, now made up in ointment form that melts at body temperature, was reported in an article of the journal of the American Medical Association as being effective against many of the same organisms as penicillin. But 30 organisms were resistant to penicillin and responded to bacitracin, while six were resistant to bacitracin and susceptible to penicillin. Some organisms were resistant to both.

The new agent was developed from a germ found in the infected wound of Margaret Tracy, 7, who had suffered a compound leg fracture. The germ was subjected to ordinary culture mediums and found to produce a wide spectrum of antibacterial activity.

Tests conducted at the Presbyterian Hospital in New York by Dr. Frank L. Meleney and Miss

Balbina Johnson of Columbia University's College of Physicians and surgeons led to the perfection of bacitracin.

The Society for the Friends of the Allied Forces in China has been organized in Chungking.

Play Review

by
SYLVESTER HOWARD

When the late Sidney Howard wrote "Yellow Jack" several years ago, it was the beginning of a long series of works about science. The motion pictures, especially, had a wave of stories about scientists triumphing over nature. Although it now seems late, "Yellow Jack" retains its quality of exciting and interesting drama. The American Repertory Theatre has given it a good production with an excellent cast.

"Yellow Jack" tells the story of Walter Reed's fight against yellow fever. When we look at the results of science, it frequently seems incredible that it took much brains and work to discover the underlying principle. Things look simple from the outside, but Sidney Howard shows how prejudice, human vanity, and petty jealousies kept back the truth for a long time.

It is not the actual battle with the mosquito, however, which makes "Yellow Jack" a worthwhile play. More important is the portrayal of the people. They may not be historically accurate, but they live on the stage. Much of the credit is due to the fine performances throughout the cast. Alfred Ryder, as the idealistic and impetuous young Dr. Lazear, is particularly effective. The four soldiers who were the first volunteers to be bitten are played with great humor and warmth. The sets are simple and the production as a whole is free from the over-elaborateness so common in the theatre. "Yellow Jack" is not a great play, nor is it an exceptionally skillful one, but it provides an enjoyable evening.

Since the American Repertory Theatre is trying to establish itself as a permanent part of New York cultural life, it is curious that it choose to revive "Yellow Jack." While it is a perfectly acceptable play, it does not seem worthy of a revival. A repertory theatre thrives on the great works of the past. We can always see the average plays in the current theatre.

So far this season the company has produced "Henry VIII" and "Androcles and the Lion." Shaw and Ibsen are among the best of modern writers, and it would be good if the repertory group would use its obvious talent on plays worthy of its efforts.

Dutch Offer New Process

A waterproofing process for fabrics, effective on any kind except wool, is being promoted in The Hague by its Dutch inventors, F. Witbaard and W. Bleyenberg. Fabrics treated may be of any color and become adaptable for use as raincoats, tents and tarpaulins for autos, trucks and boat decks. They claim that cloths treated tend to become strengthened and will not crack or become sticky. Because of the shortage in Holland of materials, the inventors want to interest American manufacturers.

Will Hold Meeting To Form Fire Co. At Olive Bridge

A meeting for the purpose of organizing a volunteer fire company to cover the areas of Olive Bridge, Brown Station, Krumville, Samsonville, Broadhead and The Vly will be held at I.O.O.F. Hall, Olive Bridge, on Wednesday evening, March 12, at 8 o'clock.

At that meeting all persons in the area who are interested in securing fire protection are invited to attend. There will be election of officers and memberships will be taken at the meeting. Anyone who resides in the area, whether they seek to join the organization at this time or not are invited to attend the meeting and have the proposal explained.

Several preliminary discussions have been held and at a meeting held Tuesday evening at the home of Albert Fox at Olive Bridge, plans were discussed for the formation of a membership corporation to operate as a volunteer fire company in the area. Mr. Fox was named temporary chairman to serve until the meeting next Wednesday when officers will be selected and an organization effected.

Action in securing fire protection for the area has been prompted because of several disastrous fires which have taken place in the area during the past year. Residents of the area feel that a volunteer fire company located in the area, equipped with a suitable fire apparatus would afford adequate fire protection to the several hamlets in the area.

Storm Conditions Relieved Upstate

Sleet or Snow May Hit New York City Today

Albany, N. Y., March 6—(AP)—Upstate New York approached normal today after the severest snowstorm of the winter, as plows cleared many roads, transportation quickened its pace, most schools reopened and supplies improved.

The U. S. Weather Bureau predicted fair weather for most of eastern New York today and partly cloudy for the western part of the state. Early morning temperatures were in the 30's.

The forecasters said that a storm, which yesterday they feared would hit the stricken northern and central portions of the state, would veer across the southeast corner bringing sleet or snow to the New York city area tonight.

Rail and bus traffic emerged slowly from the paralysis caused by the five-day storm that laid a blanket of snow as high as 45 inches, took at least 10 lives and isolated numerous communities.

The Erie Railroad reported that its lines still were tied up between Buffalo and Hornell, and the Baltimore & Ohio said lines were blocked between Buffalo and Pittsburgh.

Plows, cleared tracks today on B. & O. lines near Rochester where trains have been stalled at Pavilion, Freedom and Bliss.

Other railroads reported traffic near normal as did most bus and air lines.

Mayors Describe Tour as 'Crusade'

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 6—(AP)—A group of United States mayors, who will tour midwest and southern cities today described their project as a "crusade for the cities of America."

Grand Rapids Mayor George W. Welsh, president of the U. S. Conference of Mayors, and chief executives of six other cities head today for Des Moines, Ia., the first stop on the eight-day air tour.

At a banquet last night the delegates conferred on plans to discuss municipal problems ranging from finance to housing and traffic control in the cities they visit.

They heard a plea from Mayor W. Cooper Green, of Birmingham, Ala., conference vice president, for justice to municipalities "straight-jacketed financially by legislatures."

Many cities are victims of "maldistribution of tax revenues, and powerlessness to levy taxes for revenue to meet their financial needs," Green declared.

Mayors of Richmond, Va., Fort Wayne, Ind., New Rochelle, N. Y., Newark, N. J., Waterbury, Conn., Kansas City, Mo., and Omaha, Neb., also are making the trip.

The itinerary includes Kansas City, New Orleans, Birmingham, Memphis, Louisville and Cincinnati.

Congressmen Voice Hope For Truce on Criticism

Washington, March 6 (AP) — Hopes for a truce on congressional criticism of Russia during the Moscow foreign ministers conference were voiced today by both the Republican and Democratic floor leaders of the House.

Rep. Charles A. Halleck (R., Ind.), and Sam Rayburn (D., Tex.), used almost identical words in separate interviews calling upon members to cooperate with Secretary of State Marshall as much as possible.
"He has a difficult job under any conditions, and it is my personal hope that the members, both Democrats and Republicans, will not, by their words or actions, make his task more difficult," Halleck said.

Rayburn referred to Marshall's mission as "of the first importance" and said the secretary will face a "task that will be difficult at best."

"I therefore trust that neither by word nor deed will as members of the House of Representatives will make it any more difficult for him," the former speaker added.

Hat Check Girl Gives Tips on Anniversary

New York, March 6 (AP)—John Gielgud, the English actor, was only one of the patrons of Sardi's Restaurant who was surprised when the hat-check girl tipped him. That's right, tipped him.
"Is it the custom?" Gielgud asked.

Hat-check girl Renee Carol then explained that yesterday ended her 20th year on the job and "I decided this was my day to tip the customers."

Renee handed out $50 in quarters, but there were compensations—like a $13 bottle of champagne from one customer and flowers from 10 others.

Baking Carnival

Carnival Marble Cake

MADE BY BETTY CROCKER
"Double-Quick" NEW METHOD

Cuts your mixing time 1/2;
No creaming... no egg beating!

Have all ingredients room temperature (70° to 75°). (Shortening should be soft, not melted.) Preheat oven to 350° (moderate). Grease generously and dust with flour 2 round layer pans, 9-in. diameter, 1 1/2 in. deep, or 1 oblong pan, 9 x 13 x 2 in., or 1 square pan, 9 x 9 x 2 in. Sift GOLD MEDAL "Kitchen-tested" Flour before measuring. Measure all ingredients accurately (level) before starting to mix.

Sift together into bowl...
2 1/2 cups (2 cups plus 2 tbsp.) sifted GOLD MEDAL "Kitchen-tested" Flour
1 1/2 cups sugar
3/4 tsp. double-action baking powder
1 tsp. salt
1/2 cup high grade vegetable shortening
1 cup milk
1 tsp. flavoring

Beat vigorously with spoon for 2 minutes by clock (about 150 strokes per minute). You may rest a moment when beating by hand; just count actual beating time or strokes. Or mix with electric mixer on slow to medium speed for 2 minutes. Scrape sides and bottom of bowl frequently.

Add...
1/2 to 3/4 cup unbeaten egg whites (4 large)

Continue beating 2 more minutes, scraping bowl frequently. Pour about 3/4 of batter into prepared pan or pans.

To remaining batter add...
1 sq. unsweetened chocolate (1 oz.), melted, mixed with 1/4 tsp. soda
2 tbsp. warm water
1/4 tsp. red food coloring, if desired

Mix until well blended (about 1/2 minute). Pour chocolate batter here and there over white batter. Cut through batter several times with knife for marbled effect.

Bake layers 25 to 30 minutes; oblong cake 35 to 40 minutes; square cake 50 to 55 minutes in moderate oven (350°). Square cakes often "crack." Delicious uniced... warm from the oven... or frosted, when cool, with your favorite white icing.

*TO SAVE ON SUGAR: Use 3/4 cup white corn syrup and only 3/4 cup sugar. Reduce milk to 3/4 cup plus 1 tbsp. Add syrup with milk to dry ingredients.

If you live at an altitude over 3000 ft., write Betty Crocker, General Mills, Inc., Minneapolis 1, Minn., for recipe adjustments. Please specify recipes wanted.

Lewis Fines Upheld By Supreme Court In Surprise Move

Today's action caught all parties by surprise.

Vinson Gives Opinion
Chief Justice Vinson delivered the opinion of the majority. Justices Murphy and Rutledge wrote dissenting opinions. Justice Frankfurter wrote a concurring opinion. Justices Black and Douglas each wrote an opinion in which they concurred in part and dissented in part.

The court majority ruled that neither the Norris-LaGuardia Act nor the War Labor Disputes Act barred the government from obtaining the injunction which resulted in the contempt proceedings.

It was this injunction that Lewis and the miners union were accused of flouting.

After the case had been appealed directly to the Supreme Court, Lewis suddenly ordered his miners back to work, in December 7. He said he wanted the Supreme Court freed of any public hysteria in weighing the issues.

Guilty of Criminal Civil
Chief Justice Vinson, in his opinion said that the trial court properly found the defendants in the Lewis case guilty of both criminal and civil contempt.

The majority specified that in cutting the union's fine to $700,000 it was doing so on this condition:

The union must pay an additional fine of $2,800,000 unless it shows within five days after the Supreme Court issues its mandate that it has fully complied with the lower court's order.

"The defendant union," Chief Justice Vinson said, "can effect full compliance only by withdrawing unconditionally the notice given by it signed by John L. Lewis, Jr., Krug, secretary of the interior, terminating the Krug-Lewis agreement as of midnight, November 20, and by notifying at the same time, its members of such withdrawal."

"We well realize," Vinson went on, "the serious proportion of the fines here imposed on the defendant union."

"But a majority feels that the course taken by the union carried with it such a serious threat to orderly constitutional government, and to the economic and social welfare of the nation, that a fine of substantial size is required in order to emphasize the gravity of the offense of which the union was found guilty."

Was Aggressive Leader
The defendant Lewis, it is true, was the aggressive leader in the studied and deliberate non-compliance with the order of the District Court; but as the record shows, he stated in open court prior to imposition of the fines that "The representative of the United Mine Workers decried that the so-called 'Krug-Lewis agreement was breached,' and that it was the union's 'representatives' who 'notified the secretary of the interior that the contract was terminated as of November 20.'"

And certainly it was the members of the defendant union who executed the nationwide strike. Loyalty in responding to the orders of their leaders may, in some minds, minimize the gravity of the miners' conduct; but we can no ignore the effect of their action upon the rights of other citizens, or the effect of their action upon our system of government.

The chief justice asserted that "the gains, social and economic, which the miners and other citizens have realized in the past are ultimately due to the fact that they enjoy the rights of free men under our system of government."

"Upon the maintenance of that system," Vinson added, "depends all future progress to which they must justly aspire. In our complex society there is a great variety of limited loyalties, but the overriding loyalty of all is to our country and to the institutions under which a particular interest may be pursued."

"We are aware," the chief justice said, "that the defendants may have sincerely believed that the restraining order was ineffective and would finally be vacated. However, the government had sought a declaration of its contractual rights under the Krug-Lewis agreement, effective since May, 1946, and solemnly subscribed by the government and defendant union."

"The restraining order sought to preserve conditions until the cause could be determined, and obedience by the defendants would have secured this result.

Had Chance to Comply
"They had full opportunity to comply with the order of the District Court, but they deliberately refused obedience and determined for themselves the validity of the order."

Their (the union's and Lewis's) conduct showed a total lack of respect for the judicial process. Punishment in this case is for that which the defendants had done prior to imposition of the judgment in the District Court, coupled with a coercive imposition upon the defendant union to compel obedience with the court's outstanding order.

The majority said that other contentions advanced by Lewis and the union had been examined but the court majority had found them to be "without merit."

Kingston Legion Conducting Drive For Members Here

Commander Ernest A. Stouling wants Kingston Post substantially represented among the 4,000,000 members the American Legion hopes to sign up by the end of this year.

His membership committee, directed by Chairman James G. Connelly, is soliciting ex-servicemen and women of this area by letter to join the organization. "A personal visit to each veteran is made impossible due to their vast number," said Chairman Connelly.

Each letter is accompanied by an application blank which can be filled out and returned with a year's dues. There is no special initiation fee called. Legionnaires receive the organization's magazine free each month.

Renovations are under way at the Memorial Building; it is being painted and refurbished. Besides card rooms, billiard room, showers and lounge, there will be a modern snack bar with a variety of refreshments.

In commenting on the drive for members, Chairman Connelly remarked, "Membership in the American Legion brings with it the association of yourself with other veterans devoted to mutual helpfulness, the promotion of comradeship and to the perpetuation of a 100 per cent Americanism."

"By the end of this year, the American Legion expects to have 4,000,000 members. No group or faction in America could stand up against the combined desires of a veterans organization of this size."

'Bride' Orders $80 Cake Leaves Baker in Distress

Pittsburgh, March 6 (AP)—Ralph Molo has an eighty-dollar wedding cake which is begging for a wedding.

Molo, owner of a small Italian pastry shop, explained that a "very pretty brunette" posing as a prospective bride ordered the cake six days ago. But, he related today with great melancholy, she failed to call for it and her address is fictitious.

What's tough is the cake contains 110 pounds of hard-to-get mixed fruits, rum, butter cream, sugar and shortening—all covered with small, silver balls imbedded in thick, fancy, white icing.

But Molo is an altruist. He offered the cake free today to anyone who can use it for a wedding. It must be a big wedding, he emphasized—a wedding worthy of the cake.

Someone has two weeks to get it. The cake will keep fresh that long, he said.

She has written text books, advertising copy, articles for technical magazines, humorous verse, taught languages, produced amateur theatricals. ## Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

CAN SOMETHING OLD BE REAL PRESENT?

A letter asks: "Is something that is not new ever to be regarded as a real present? My husband is expert at cabinet-making, although it is not his vocation. He has repaired and rebuilt much furniture used by our children when they were younger. We intended to give this to my sister for her children. He wanted to give it as their Christmas present, whereas I felt its not being new made it unsuitable for any special occasion."

If it looks shabby, you are right. But you are wrong if the furniture is as serviceable and good-looking as when it was new.

Marrying Out of Her Faith

Dear Mrs. Post: My father does not approve of my marriage because I am marrying out of our faith. Accordingly, we will have to be married in a hotel. Since we are not choosing a big room, there won't be space to invite any but the immediate families who I am planning to ask verbally. Who should give me away, since my father refuses even to be present? Also, how should the announcements be worded?

Answer: The nearest male member of your family, next to your father, should serve in your father's place. If, as is probable, your father refuses to have his name appear on the announcements, the best plan will be to send them in your own names. For example, "Miss Mary Smith and Mr. John Jones have the honor to announce their marriage, etc."

Ex or Not Ex

Dear Mrs. Post: Isn't a deceased brother's widow always to be looked upon as a sister-in-law? In this instance, she is married again but we are friendly with her and her husband and there is a child of my brother's. I have been told I am wrong in referring to her as my sister-in-law.

Answer: Some people do say "ex" sister-in-law, but this is omitted where affection has remained. In other words, its retention is a matter of personal feeling rather than of rule.

Do you know your ABC's in manners? Send for Mrs. Post's leaflet, "An Etiquette Test," obtainable for 5 cents in coin and a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Sabbath Seeks Answer To High Living Costs

Washington, March 5 (AP) — Rep. Sabbath (D-Ill.), asked the House today to order its agriculture committee to "find out what has made the prices of cost-of-living items jump more than fifty per cent in six months."

In a statement accompanying a resolution requesting the investigation, the dean of the House said "prices are still rising" and "a new propaganda war is underway, against consumers, to kill the last remaining controls on rents, sugar and rice."

"This Republican Congress is filled with pity for the poor little rich boys with their hands in the consumers' pockets," he said. "Crocodile tears wash away campaign promises."

Bermudans Seek Assurance on No-Sale

Hamilton, Bermuda, March 5 (AP)—Governor Sir Ralph Leatham has been asked by the House of Assembly to seek assurance from the British government that it is not negotiating to sell this island colony to the United States.

The message was sent to the Governor after a two-hour debate yesterday, launched by members who said they had heard rumors that the sale of Bermuda was being considered.

The debate diverged into a demand by Ernest Vesey, independent member, for greater self-government for Bermuda.

O.P.A. Would End June 30 Under Decision of Senate

with a stipulation that no more would be forthcoming for liquidation purposes after June 30.

During the often heated debate on this "rider" Democratic Senators Lucas (Ill.), O'Mahoney (Wyo.), Hill (Ala.), and Taylor (Idaho), accused the Republicans of trying to scuttle all price and rent controls before Congress could decide upon a definite policy.

Lucas said the Republicans want to see "O.P.A. out of business and a complete, cold breakdown in rent control."

Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Republican policy committee, replied that even if O.P.A. should have to go out of business April 30, Congress would have time to enact new legislation dealing with rents, sugar and other matters.

One pending bill would extend rent control until December 31, leaving administration either to the states or federal courts. Another would shift sugar and rice controls to the Agriculture Department.

The appropriation bill itself

passed on a voice vote. The only recorded test was a roll call on the rider. It was upheld 58 to 29. Eleven Democrats joined with 47 Republicans to end the agency June 30; 28 Democrats and one Republican, Aiken, Vermont, answered no. The $182,000,000 bill as it passed the Senate was $40,000,000 above the House figure. The Veterans Administration would get $155,000,000 of the total, $30,000,000 more than the house specified for that agency.

Agreement Gives Poland Benefits

Seven Points Are Covered in Deal With Reds After Conference

Moscow, March 6 (AP)—A new Polish-Soviet agreement—reported to provide for numerous apparent economic benefits to Poland and to express a unity of opinion on the German question—dominated the press of the Soviet Union today.

Newspapers reported that among the things the young Polish republic would receive were:

- (1) A Russian loan of $28,855,000 in gold.
- (2) Reduction by half the coal supplies due Russia from Poland.
- (3) Trains which the Soviets seized as war booty from Germany.
- (4) An arrangement on "mutual financial obligations."
- (5) Establishment of "scientific and technical collaboration" in the field of industrial production.

(6) Armaments and military equipment as a credit from the Soviet Union.

(7) A part of the German merchant fleet "due Poland," to be handed over by May 15, 1947.

"There also was an exchange of opinions on the German question which revealed the principle of harmony in the standpoint of both governments," said a communiqué.

The discussions from the Russian side were reported to have been conducted by Prime Minister Stalin with the assistance of Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, Minister of Foreign Trade A. I. Mikoyan, Finance Minister A. G. Zverev and Deputy Foreign Minister A. Y. Vishinsky.

Representing Poland were Premier Jozef Cyrankiewicz, Minister of Industry Hilary Minc and others.

The Polish premier spent nine days in the Soviet capital.

25 Are Arrested As Terrorists in Palestine Areas

Jerusalem, March 6 (AP)—An official announcement today said 25 "known terrorists" had been arrested in Palestine during the last few days.

The announcement said the 25 were "understood to include members of the Stern gang and Irgun Zvai Leumi," both of which are Jewish underground organizations.

South of Haifa, police dogs were put on the bloody trail of persons who attacked an army camp near Hadera this morning, wounding three British soldiers slightly.

Two of the attackers were believed to have been wounded in the fray, in which small arms fire and mortars were used. Six homemade grenades were found near the scene.

Violence in the strife-torn Holy Land claimed another victim last night when a private car struck a road mine at Rehovot, killing the Jewish driver and injuring his Jewish passenger.

In Jerusalem, unidentified persons hurled grenades at two military vehicles, wounding a British lance corporal and a Palestine constable. A bomb blast wrecked the government assessment office in Haifa, but there were no casualties.

British troops searching for the perpetrators of these attacks lighted the night skies over Jerusalem with red and green flares and there were intermittent sounds of gunfire as a guard post in the British security zone repulsed a light attack.

Nibble If You Must

The first hundred hours are the hardest in any diet. By the time Friday rolls around, however, you'll be so used to the new regime of things you'll barely give the old eating habits a backward glance.

The habit that most women have most trouble breaking is nibbling between meals. If that's your problem, make it a practice to save your bedtime beverage, or minor course, for when your will is weakest. Or if you take coffee and tea plain, drink a cup whenever you like without fear of adding calories.

Our 14-day diet takes into account this fondness for between-meal snacks. Every morning at 10:30 you are allowed one of these drinks: broth, tea with one spoon sugar, half cup whole milk, glass of skim milk or buttermilk. Your bedtime beverage is: glass skim milk or buttermilk, glass of foamy milk shake (special recipe), tomato juice or tea with lemon. This is all figured in your daily allotment of under 1200 calories.

Also included in our helpful Reader Service booklet No. 46 are calorie charts, recipes, liquid diet, reducing rules.

Security Council Studies Russian Refusal to Open Frontiers for Inspection

Lake Success, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—Pessimistic Security Council delegates, groping for a solution to global control of atomic energy, pondered today a Russian assertion that Soviet frontiers never would be thrown open to unlimited international inspection nor Soviet factories allowed to operate under United Nations control.

Andre A. Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister, made these points clear in a major policy speech, devoted principally to an outspoken attack on the American control plan.

Gromyko said the United States proposals, already accepted by all members of the 12-nation Atomic Energy Commission except Russia and Poland, were contrary to the basic economic and national interests of other nations and "directed against the independence of other states."

The Russian delegate insisted that he was in favor of strict and effective international control, but not on the broad terms laid down by the United States. While repeatedly assailing the American provisions in a 78-minute speech, Gromyko did not state how far his country was willing to go toward "strict" control.

The United States wants an atomic development authority with full powers of inspection and control of atomic matters everywhere.

Delegates generally reserved immediate comment pending a study of the text, but it was apparent that many envisioned major difficulty in clearing up the inspection-control problem in the face of the Russian stand.

Significance Is Considered

Coming almost on the eve of the Moscow conference, the speech was viewed as specially significant.

"Unlimited control would mean an unlimited interference of the control and controlling organs in the economic life of the countries on whose territory this control will be carried out, and interference in their internal affairs," Gromyko said. He added:

"Strict regulation of powers and duties of a control organ should exclude the unlimited access for inspection purposes to all equipment and operations and should also exclude granting to inspection the right to shut down plants, to interfere with normal mining and milling operations and granting it the right of giving so-called licenses."

Gromyko declared that "granting an international control organ the right to possess establishments for the production of atomic energy and an unlimited power to carry out other important functions connected with the ownership and management of the establishments would lead to interference in internal affairs." He said that granting such powers was "incompatible with

Lake Success, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—Pessimistic Security Council delegates, groping for a solution to global control of atomic energy, pondered today a Russian assertion that Soviet frontiers never would be thrown open to unlimited international inspection nor Soviet factories allowed to operate under United Nations control.

Andre A. Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister, made these points clear in a major policy speech, devoted principally to an outspoken attack on the American control plan.

Gromyko said the United States proposals, already accepted by all members of the 12-nation Atomic Energy Commission except Russia and Poland, were contrary to the basic economic and national interests of other nations and "directed against the independence of other states."

The Russian delegate insisted that he was in favor of strict and effective international control, but not on the broad terms laid down by the United States. While repeatedly assailing the American provisions in a 78-minute speech, Gromyko did not state how far his country was willing to go toward "strict" control.

The United States wants an atomic development authority with full powers of inspection and control of atomic matters everywhere.

Delegates generally reserved immediate comment pending a study of the text, but it was apparent that many envisioned major difficulty in clearing up the inspection-control problem in the face of the Russian stand.

veto were the United States and Great Britain."

Gromyko's speech took up the entire session and no action was taken on an American proposal to refer the atomic issue back to the commission with instructions to try again for a solution.

Sitting behind American Delegate Warren R. Austin as Gromyko delivered his long speech in English was Frederick H. Osborn, New York businessman and former army major general, who was named yesterday as United States deputy on the Atomic Commission.

The Council will take up the atomic problem again Monday, when Austin is expected to answer Gromyko. Meanwhile, delegates will convene Friday to continue debate on the American request for trusteeship over Japanese mandated islands in the Pacific.

Sparkman Offers Compromise Proposal

Washington, March 6 (AP)—Senator Sparkman (D-Ala.), today offered the Senate banking committee a compromise proposal to continue rent controls until June 30, 1948, with no across the board increase in ceilings.

Sparkman told a reporter he believed the other five Democrats on the 13-man group will support him and "if we get one Republican we will have a majority."

This would head off a subcommittee measure—retaining controls only until next December 31 and allowing a flat 10 per cent increase—which comes up before the full committee today.

Chairman Tobey (R-N.H.), disclosed that he does not agree "in principle" with the subcommittee's bill.

He suggested that some federal agency continue to administer rents under a mandate to act quickly on legitimate landlord "hardship cases."

The subcommittee bill would take rent out of O.P.A.'s hands at once and put enforcement into the courts.

Play Review

by SYLVESTER HOWARD

When the late Sidney Howard wrote "Yellow Jack" several years ago, it was the beginning of a long series of works about science. The motion pictures, especially, had a wave of stories about scientists triumphing over nature. Although it now seems late, "Yellow Jack" retains its quality of exciting and interesting drama. The American Repertory Theatre has given it a good production with an excellent cast.

"Yellow Jack" tells the story of Walter Reed's fight against yellow fever. When we look at the results of science, it frequently seems incredible that it took much brains and work to discover the underlying principle. Things look simple from the outside, but Sidney Howard shows how prejudice, human vanity, and petty jealousies kept back the truth for a long time.

It is not the actual battle with the mosquito, however, which makes "Yellow Jack" a worthwhile play. More important is the portrayal of the people. They may not be historically accurate, but they live on the stage. Much of the credit is due to the fine performances throughout the cast. Alfred Ryder, as the idealistic and impetuous young Dr. Lazear, is particularly effective. The four soldiers who are the first victims to be bitten are played with great humor and warmth. The sets are simple and the production as a whole is free from the over-elaborateness so common in the theatre. "Yellow Jack" is not a great play, nor is it an exceptionally skillful one, but it provides an enjoyable evening.

Since the American Repertory Theatre is trying to establish itself as a permanent part of New York cultural life, it is curious that it choose to revive "Yellow Jack." While it is a perfectly acceptable play, it does not seem worthy of a revival. A repertory theatre thrives on the great works of the past. We can always see the average plays in the current theatre.

So far this season the company has produced "Henry VIII" and "Androcles and the Lion." Shaw and Ibsen are among the best of modern writers, and it would be good if the repertory group would use its obvious talent on plays worthy of its effort.

KRUMVILLE

Dutch Offer New Process

A waterproofing process for fabrics, effective on any kind except wool, is being promoted in The Hague by its Dutch inventors, F. Witbaard and W. Bleyenbergh. Fabrics treated may be of any color and become adaptable for use as raincoats, tents and tarpaulins for autos, trucks and boat decks. They claim that cloths treated tend to become strengthened and will not crack or become sticky. Because of the shortage in Holland of materials, the inventors want to interest American manufacturers.

Storm Conditions Relieved Upstate

Sleet or Snow May Hit New York City Today

Albany, N. Y., March 6—(AP)—Upstate New York approached normal today after the severest snowstorm of the winter, as plows cleared many roads, transportation quickened its pace, most schools reopened and supplies improved.

The U. S. Weather Bureau predicted fair weather for most of eastern New York today and partly cloudy for the western part of the state. Early morning temperatures were in the 30's.

The forecasters said that a storm, which yesterday feared would hit the stricken northern and central portions of the state, would veer across the southeast corner bringing sleet or snow to the New York City area tonight.

Rail and bus traffic emerged slowly from the paralysis caused by the five-day storm that laid a blanket of snow as high as 45 inches, took at least 10 lives and isolated numerous communities.

The Erie Railroad reported that its lines still were tied up between Buffalo and Hornell, and the Baltimore and Ohio said lines were blocked between Buffalo and Pittsburgh.

Plows, cleared tracks today on B. & O. lines near Rochester where trains have been stalled at Pavilion, Freedom and Bliss.

Other railroads reported traffic near normal as did most bus and air lines.

Mayors Describe Tour as 'Crusade'

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 6

(AP)—A group of United States mayors, who will tour midwest and southern cities today described their project as a "crusade for the cities of America."

Grand Rapids Mayor George W. Welsh, president of the U. S. Conference of Mayors, and chief executive of six other cities head today for Des Moines, Ia., the first stop on the eight-day air tour.

At a banquet last night the delegates conferred on plans to discuss municipal problems ranging from finance to housing and traffic control in the cities they visit.

They heard a plea from Mayor W. Cooper Green of Birmingham, Ala., conference vice president, for justice to municipalities "straight-jacketed financially by legislators."

Many cities are victims of "maldistribution of tax revenues, and powerless to levy taxes for revenue to meet their financial needs," Green declared.

Mayors of Richmond, Va., Fort Wayne, Ind., New Rochelle, N. Y., Newark, N. J., Waterbury, Conn., Kansas City, Mo., and Omaha, Neb., also are making the trip. The itinerary includes Kansas City, New Orleans, Birmingham, Memphis, Louisville and Cincinnati.

New England's apple orchards produced an estimated 283,000 bushels of Cortlands in 1946.
